Hello and welcome. Gerry here, Miles' German reader from the Fruit paper. This time, I'm offering something much bigger. I'm here to propose a possible ancient origin for the phenomenon discovered by Miles that we've come to call "spooks": Namely, that most famous persons throughout history appear to be members and agents of a secret aristocratic upper class, who literally enact their role, and retire by faking their own death. If you're new here and none of this makes sense to you, read Miles' other papers first. I suggest starting with JFK.

Miles has also found out that most of these spooks appear to be Jewish, as they have Biblical Hebrew names, exhibit Jewish customs and retain ties to Israel. Living in Germany, I've been vaccinated since childhood against such theories, but after doing much research myself, I've come to the conclusion that Miles is right about these symptoms, as uncomfortable as that is.

However, we have no explanation yet, for two things:

1. Why do they identify as Jewish and at the same time don't seem to believe in Judaism? The spook aristocrats seem to be totally faithless and anti-religious, going against both letter and spirit of pretty much all religions with their scams. Why would people like that take Biblical names?

2. How did they manage to conquer the entire world? Being a regular Jew according to the official definition doesn't exactly give you special skills or superpowers, right? It's rather the opposite: Belonging to a foreign minority, you could face discrimination. The ultra-rich Jewish aristocrats are immune to that by virtue of their supreme power, but that power did not come from their Jewish behavior. Where did it come from?

In this four part series, I will attempt to show that the ancestors of today's spooks were not the nomadic Ancient Hebrews, but another people, well known in fact, whom I shall start out by calling the "Ancient Spookians". Ancient Israel appears to have been merely set up by them, and was and is only one of their fronts. They were the elites of an insanely rich and insanely powerful global empire, which already linked and transcended all empires of classical antiquity. And they got that power simply by being the first to globalize. Officially, their empire vanished into thin air at some point, without leaving any records. But we know it's still here.

The shorthand proof is this: Given what Miles has found out, it makes more sense than official history. It also makes more sense than the theory that humble nomadic folk could somehow take over ancient and modern empires. But not everything that makes sense is true. And if I've made you suspicious and alert, by seeming to navigate away from the Jews, then that's good. Keep your wits together, and keep them sharp. We'll need them.

[Miles: I'll keep him honest, don't worry. We won't be "navigating" away from the Jews, although that word is an early clue to who these people are. I would not be publishing this paper if it navigated away from the Jews. Gerry will not be showing the Jews are not Jews. He will be showing they are Jews and a whole lot more.]

Here now comes the long and stony path to the truth: I found most of the evidence, and the final link from Ancient Israel to the Ancient Spookians, in the Bible. More precisely, the Old Testament, or Tanakh. Because modern spooks use so many Biblical names and references, I looked there for hidden clues. I myself have lost what little faith I had, and I admit that I don't like much of the Biblical narrative, especially the glorification of wars and kings. But that is to be expected of pretty much every record in history. No, what I found was something different: Amazingly, the Bible seems to be riddled with hidden spook jokes and clues, also like pretty much every record in history.

This research is very long, so I have split it into four parts:

- Part I is an introduction with some examples. You're reading it.
- Part II analyzes ancient manufactured wars and aristocratic family ties.
- Part III links Ancient Israel to Ancient Spookia. This is where the meatiest meat is.
- Part IV is intended as a reward, and eases back into a broader analysis of classical antiquity.

Joseph's Granaries

We know that today's aristocratic spook families live mainly off financial scams. Is something like that in the Bible? I think that I found something related, in the story of Joseph, and it's this story that first set me on the path of Bible analysis. I remember my teacher reading this story to us in grade school: Joseph is sold to Egypt into slavery, but immediately becomes head servant of his master's household. He's then innocently thrown into prison, but becomes head supervisor under the prison chief. He then interprets the Pharaoh's dream and becomes head advisor to the Pharaoh, and implements a national granary system to guard against a famine, foreseen to follow on seven years of abundance.

So he gathered all the food of these seven years which occurred in the land of Egypt and placed the food in the cities; he placed in every city the food from its own surrounding fields. GEN 41:48

And here's the part that my teacher didn't read:

Now there was no food in all the land, because the famine was very severe, so that the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan languished because of the famine. GEN 47:13

Joseph gathered all the money that was found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan for the grain which they bought, and Joseph brought the money into Pharaoh's house. GEN 47:14

When the money was all spent in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph and said, "Give us food, for why should we die in your presence? For our money is gone." GEN 47:15

Then Joseph said, "Give up your livestock, and I will give you food for your livestock, since your money is gone." GEN 47:16

When that year was ended, they came to him the next year and said to him, "We will not hide from my lord that our money is all spent, and the cattle are my lord's. There is nothing left for my lord except our bodies and our lands." GEN 47:18

"Why should we die before your eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for food, and we and our land will be slaves to Pharaoh. So give us seed, that we may live and not die, and that the land may not be desolate." GEN 47:19

So Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh, for every Egyptian sold his field, because the famine was severe upon them. Thus the land became Pharaoh's. GEN 47:20

Then Joseph said to the people, "Behold, I have today bought you and your land for Pharaoh; here is seed for you, and you may sow the land." GEN 47:23

...

So they said, "You have saved our lives! Let us find favor in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's slaves." GEN 47:25

If you look at those verses, the granary system appears a little less benevolent, doesn't it? The grain is taken away while the taking is good, and once the crisis strikes it's not handed out to the needy, but sold back, in exchange for everything!

Now when I fully read these passages for the first time, I had a question: How does this finance minister Joseph fit in with the earlier nomadic Joseph who was sold as a slave, and later reunites with his family in a very touching scene? And my short answer is: it doesn't fit! In my eyes, there's no way the nomad Joseph is in any way compatible with this granary scheme.

We have to ask how the authors knew all these details about hoarding, arbitrage, debt-enslavement and land grabs. It is a hint to the people I call Ancient Spookians. Note that the scheme extends to both Egypt and Canaan. Egypt ruled Canaan in earlier periods, and the Ancient Spookians have an active history in both countries. The Ancient Spookians were also sure to like the arbitrage profiting, because that is what their empire was built upon. And one of their main trade products is said to have been grain, from Egypt.

There is one word in the Hebrew original that led me to a trail that I'm pretty sure has been left by Ancient Spooks: 2 times, Joseph is described as nazir (נזיר).

The blessings of your father Have surpassed the blessings of my ancestors Up to the utmost bound of the everlasting hills; May they be on the head of Joseph, And on the crown of the head of the one distinguished [nazir] among his brothers. GEN 49:26

ויחא ריזנדקדקלון פסוי שארל יייהתם לוע תעבג תואת דע ירוה תכרב לע ורבג ריבא תכרב

And with the choice things of the earth and its fullness, And the favor of Him who dwelt in the bush. Let it come to the head of Joseph, And to the crown of the head of the one distinguished [nazir] among his brothers. DEUT 33:16

ויחא ריזנדקדקלון פסוי שארל התאובת הנס ינכש ווצרו האלמו צרא דגממו

Now what does nazir mean? We shall find out in another Bible story.

Puns in the Bible

Before we go ahead, a quick lesson about the Hebrew language. Most words are derived from word roots, usually with 3 consonants. Each root is basis for many words with meanings that are only loosely related. They are distinguished through the context, and different vowelizations. The script, however, has no vowels, so the meaning is guessed from context only. The Masoretes added vowel-dots, but these were not present in the original, and I'll omit them here to reflect that. In early versions, perhaps not even Yod-Waw-vowels were present. Any Bible text is therefore susceptible to ambiguity, and to puns. Most are known, enjoyable, and an integral part of the Bible. But I fear that spooky people might have inserted other, unofficial ones.

In my analysis, I will rely mostly on Strong's concordance, and the BDB lexicon. Miles' readers will recognize his name as a variant of the crypto-aristocratic Armstrong, but his index is still a useful tool to find variants and related words and meanings. One example of a possible pun I found in this index is the word barak (ברך), which can mean "to bless" or "to make kneel" (GEN 24:11, GEN 41:43), perhaps because a ruler makes a follower kneel when giving his blessing. This might appeal to spooks, because the many verses where the "nations of the world will be blessed" (GEN 12:3, GEN 18:18, GEN 22:18, GEN 26:4, GEN 28:14) could be read by them that the "nations of the world will be brought to their knees". Another example is the word root mashal (משל), split over 6 indexes, which has the 2 meanings "to rule" and "likening", as in proverbs. God often threatens to make his people a "proverb of the nations" (DEUT 28:37, 2 CHRON 7:20, PSALM 44:14). Spooks could secretly read it so that they will be "rulers of the nations" instead. The word pairs of barak and mashal are total homonyms, but other puns will be only homographs or homophones, or merely similar.

There are many traces of censoring in the Bible: The same word barak, "to bless", was used to censor the word "to curse" in all verses where it was used towards God. This correction is admitted and called Tiqqun Soferim. But barak is also translated as a nomad "blessing the Pharaoh", where he'd likely be "kneeling to the Pharaoh" (GEN 47:7, GEN 47:10). That's not admitted. Another example is the abrupt ending of the Book of Job, in a very unpoetic style, omitting the resolution of Satan's wager. This was likely to cut short the bizarre self-defense of God, where he suddenly invokes non-existing mystical animals as proof. Also, the Sons of God were switched for the Sons of Israel in DEUT 32:8. And try to read Exodus and keep track of who has the staff (EX 7:15, EX 7:17, EX 7:19): It looks like an editor inserted Aaron there, but forgot to rewrite the staff.

These few examples are just the tip of the iceberg, indicating the spooks have access to an older uncensored Bible, which contains more of their silly inside-jokes and self-references. That's why they like their Biblical names. Why do I think this? Because I believe that a few puns were left uncensored, that I found a very few of those, and that they have indeed led me to the Ancient Spooks responsible for them. I will show you the trail, but you'll have to keep your minds sharp and judge for yourself.

Actors for life, who fake their own death

Here comes my strongest initial discovery: Strangely enough, I found a story in the Bible that could be the foundation for all those actors who fake their own death. It's the story of Samson.

The Bible says Samson is a Nazir (נזיר), plural Nazirim (נזירים), anglicized to Nazirite. Now what's a Nazir? NUM 6 says that it's someone who clearly utters a vow to consecrate himself unto God. A Nazir mustn't drink wine, mustn't shave his head but let his locks grow, and mustn't have contact with the dead. This religious institution is called Nazirut (נזירות). Problem is, Samson himself breaks all the rules, as he drinks, touches carcasses, even produces them. So, I suspect this law means something different even for him. Here's what it does mean for Samson: His childless mother is visited by God's messenger, who tells her she'll have a son who will be a Nazir from birth to death and deliver Israel from the Philistines.

For behold, you shall conceive and give birth to a son, and no razor shall come upon his head, for the boy shall be a Nazirite to God from the womb; and he shall begin to deliver Israel from the hands of the Philistines. JUDG 13:5

לחי אוהו וטבה־ן רענה יהיה מיהלא ריזני־כ ושאר־לע הלעי־אל הרומו וְב תדליו הרה רנה יכ
מיתשלפ דימ לארשי־תא עישוהל

But he said to me: 'Behold, you shall conceive and give birth to a son, and now you shall not drink wine or strong drink nor eat any unclean thing, for the boy shall be a Nazirite to God from the womb to the day of his death.' JUDG 13:7

מיהלא ריזני־כ האמט־לכ ילכאת־לאו רכשו יי | יתשת־לא התעו וְב תדליו הרה רנה יל רמאיו
ותומ מוידע וטבה־ן רענה יהיה

How can that count as a vow of consecration if he's not even born yet? Strangely enough, Wikipedia knows the answer: Apparently, there's 2 other types of Nazir:

In general there are three types of nazirites:

- A nazirite for a set time
- A permanent nazirite
- A nazirite like Samson

Why is that strange? Because it's not stated anywhere. The Wiki text says it's only known through tradition. They then tell you that 2 types are the same, since the Samson-like Nazir is also permanent. But they are not they same! The permanent type is from vow unto death, and the Samson type is from womb unto death, without a vow by the unborn child! This type of Nazir is picked before birth by someone else!!!

Why do I stress this so much? Because Miles has detected this pattern with today's spooks, most clearly with Elvis Presley, Buddy Holly, Benjamin Franklin, but also many others! They were picked and groomed from the cradle to become agents-for-life in spook projects!

And now we finally have an explanation how they started this weird habit of faking their own death all the time. Wikipedia knows the answer once again:

A person can become a nazirite whether or not the Temple in Jerusalem is standing. However, lacking the temple there is no way to bring the offerings that end the nazirite vow. As such the person would de facto be a permanent nazirite.

That is, unto death, so when they are lacking a temple, they ritually enact their own death to end their Nazir assignment according to the traditional law! It's a celebrated nostalgic nod to the Ancient Spook rites!

Of course, there are also many practical reasons for faking a death, but those have been discussed already: Most importantly, a faked death keeps hoax victims from noticing changes in behavior, as actors age and tire, and find it increasingly annoying and burdensome to keep up their role.

And now we can decrypt all the other rules: A Nazir must abstain from alcohol, because he could give himself away when he's drunk. [Think Mel Gibson, who has come near doing this.] He mustn't have contact with the dead, because once in a new role, his former family and friends are dead to him, and contact with them would blow his cover. He also can't visit literal graves or attend funerals of his real family, at least not without disguise. The many references to the dead and graveyards may also refer to the resorts where death-fakers go. And what about the locks, that is the hair? He must let his locks grow—meaning he must grow a mask, grow into his enacted role. He's not allowed to shave, that is, to take the mask off, save for a few exceptions specified by the law.

Samson's story indeed shows many elements of a foundational spook story: He intends to marry into a family in Philistine territory, against the advice of his family. The story explicitly states that that the marriage is an operation to provoke the Philistines.

Then his father and his mother said to him, "Is there no woman among the daughters of your relatives, or among all our people, that you go to take a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?" But Samson said to his father, "Get her for me, for she looks good to me." JUDG 14:3 However, his father and mother did not know that it was of the LORD, for He was seeking an occasion against the Philistines. Now at that time the Philistines were ruling over Israel. JUDG 14:4

He goes "with his father and mother", but somehow they don't know what happens while they are all journeying together. And he doesn't tell them. Some editing has taken place here.

Then Samson went down to Timnah with his father and mother, and came as far as the vineyards of Timnah; and behold, a young lion came roaring toward him. JUDG 14:5 The Spirit of the LORD came upon him mightily, so that he tore him as one tears a young goat though he had nothing in his hand; but he did not tell his father or mother what he had done. JUDG 14:6

He later shares a "reward" from a second journey, this time alone, without his father and mother, but doesn't tell them where it came from.

So he scraped the honey into his hands and went on, eating as he went. When he came to his father and mother, he gave some to them and they ate it; but he did not tell them that he had scraped the honey out of the body of the lion. JUDG 14:9

His marriage is a chance for him to go into Philistine territory again.

Then his father went down to the woman; and Samson made a feast there, for the young men customarily did this. JUDG 14:10

Once there, he kills 30 Philistines, officially because of a lost bet, just to pay his wager. That sets in motion the apparently intended escalation of hostilities between Philistines and Israelites.

Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon him mightily, and he went down to Ashkelon and killed thirty of them and took their spoil and gave the changes of clothes to those who told the riddle. And his anger burned, and he went up to his father's house. JUDG 14:19

He afterwards ditches his fiancée, then suddenly wants to see her again later. When he can't have her anymore, he destroys other Philistines' fields in a sabotage operation, which makes those people kill her family, and so forth.

Samson went and caught three hundred foxes, and took torches, and turned the foxes tail to tail and put one torch in the middle between two tails. JUDG 15:4
When he had set fire to the torches, he released the foxes into the standing grain of the Philistines, thus burning up both the shocks and the standing grain, along with the vineyards and groves. JUDG 15:5

Then the Philistines said, "Who did this?" And they said, "Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he took his wife and gave her to his companion." So the Philistines came up and burned her and her father with fire. JUDG 15:6

Obviously, this is just a story. People don't start killing each other if they know the real provocateur is someone else. And as we know, real spookcraft is more about enacting a role and faking your death. This is just how they like their exaggerated stories. Kind of like James Bond, which also has precisely zero overlap with reality.

And of course, the secret to a spook's strength is his "hair", i.e. his mask. Unless you cut his hair, i.e. unmask him, no one can overcome or bind him. If you cut his "hair", he loses his only strength: the deception. It doesn't work anymore in today's world, where Miles unmasked all those spooks and they still run around free, but the matrix might have been less complete in ancient times. Once Delilah elicits the truth from Samson, it's over for him. Again this has little to do with spook reality, but it seems they like these clichés nonetheless.

She made him sleep on her knees, and called for a man and had him shave off the seven locks of his hair. Then she began to afflict him, and his strength left him. JUDG 16:19

As for the real spook patterns, we can get a final clue from Talmudic scripture. I believe it has been hijacked as well, just like pretty much all other religious texts. This is from the Mishnah, order Nashim, tractate Nazir, without the inline comments:

"I am a Nazirite and I take upon myself to shave a Nazirite," and his friend heard and said, "I as well, and I take upon myself to shave a Nazirite." If they are smart, they will shave each other. And if not, they will shave other Nazirites. NAZIR 2:5

תא זה מגלחים, פקחים המיו אם, נזיר לגלחת ילועם ואני ואממר הרובה ממעשן, נזיר לגלחת ילועם נזיר הריני אחרים נזירים מגלחים, למאו ואם זה.

“I take upon myself to shave half a Nazirite,” and his friend hears and says, “I as well take upon myself to shave half a Nazirite;” this one must shave a full Nazirite and that one must shave a full Nazirite, the words of Rabbi Meir. And the Sages say that this one shaves half a Nazirite and that one shaves half a Nazirite. NAZIR 2:6

הָזֶה חָסַלְשֶׁם נְזִיר מְגַלַּח זֶה, נְזִיר חָצִי לְגַלַּח יִלְעַם וְאָנִי וְאִמְרַת חֲרוּבֵהּ מִמַּעֲשֵׂן, נְזִיר חָצִי לְגַלַּח יִלְעַם הָרִי נְזִיר חָצִי מְגַלַּח הָזֶה נְזִיר חָצִי מְגַלַּח זֶה, וּמְרִיסָא כַּמְמִיסָנָה. מִחֲאִיר בֵּיר דְּבָרֵי, שְׁמַלְחָם נְזִיר מְגַלַּח

“Shaving a Nazir” is explained in an inline comment as bringing the concluding offerings on his behalf. But this doesn’t make sense, because then no one would gain anything if they shave “each other”! So, what does this really mean? Could “shaving a Nazir” perhaps mean to cover for a fellow spook, so that he can drop his act once in a while? The word for “friend” here, chaber (חַבֵּר), can mean companion, fellow, ally, joined, connected. In one passage it is even used for twins, who as spooks do indeed regularly cover for one another to get relief, as we know from Miles’ papers about Elvis, McCartney and others. Being a non-Hebrew speaker, the Mishnah’s language is currently beyond me, but since it’s a very elaborate commentary on things that are themselves not defined, there might be more to uncover.

[Miles here: I think shaving half a Nazirite means to half blow the cover of a fellow agent, as we have seen many times. Agents appear to out fellow agents to gain street cred. But those fellow agents only seem to be outed, since what was revealed was unimportant, while the important stuff remains hidden. Think of Dave McGowan, seeming to blow the cover of many in Laurel Canyon, but completely missing the fact that most of it was staged, including the Tate/Manson event.]

The Etymology

Can we find the spook meaning of “aristocratic actors” of the term Nazir in related words? In the Bible, apart from the word Nazir itself, the word root NZR (נָזַר) is also used in the sense of defection and treason (HOS 9:10), uncut hair (JER 7:29), untrimmed vines (LEV 25:5), a literal crown (2 SAM 1:10, 2 KING 11:12, 2 CHRON 23:11), generally for separation or exaltation over others, and as a symbol of ruling. How did this come to describe spooks? As aristocrats, they definitely think they’re exalted, and as actors they are set apart in a way, as in the official meaning of Nazir.

In our context, the word root NZR is also likely related to another root, NKR (נָכַר), which means to disguise and deceive (GEN 42:7, PROV 26:24), to behave strangely (DEUT 32:27), generally to recognize, scrutinize, harbor suspicion, or used for foreigners and particularly foreign gods. As actors who fake their own death, the spooks are certainly disguising and deceiving, and behaving very strangely, and foreign to the commoners they are scamming.

The best match for us is a third root, NSR (נָסַר), meaning to observe, to watch, to guard. That fits perfectly with a spook who isn’t spying in enemy territory, but observes the common citizens of a nation already controlled behind the scenes. This NSR root is also linked to NZR by some linguists.

Not very related at first sight is NDR (נָדַר), to vow. The Nazir vow is just such a vow though, and as nazar it was also a verb. Therefore NDR is also said to be linked to NZR, within and outside of Hebrew. Even BDB makes that link.

In Hebrew, the “observer” meaning may have been lost for NZR, but in Arabic, a related Semitic language, the word nazir (نَازِرًا) with an NZR root using Arabic Za, still means observer, viewer. (نَازِرًا) spectator, onlooker, supervisor, inspector, generally someone who watches others! In our context: a spy. It also means eye. All are derived from nazara (נָזַר), meaning to see, look, watch, observe.

Which one is the true meaning, the origin? Probably all of the above. Many spoken dialects such as Ancient Aramaic had more consonants than the early Semitic script provided, so people used all of the above consonants for different phonemes. We will also see that the Ancient Spooks simply loved multi-puns, even with loosely similar words, and didn't care much about the word roots.

Word References

I tried to find secret references to the word Nazir, but quickly gave up. There are so many similar names like Nazir, Nazar, Nasir, Nasser, Nasr, that you'll hit a lot of spooks by sheer coincidence. Miles recently published a paper with many spooks who are named Nassar, and I think now we know why they chose that name. However, regular people can of course bear the same name, referring to other, harmless meanings. It's not made easier by the fact that the Tractate Nazir explicitly states that all words that are remotely similar to Nazir can also be used and make the vow valid, such as Nazik (נָזִיק), Naziach (נָזִיחַ), or Paziach (נָזִיחַ). If "Paziach" can mean "Nazir", then what doesn't?

I'll give you two examples from the Islamic world here. One is Nayirah, the Kuwaiti ambassador's daughter who told Hill and Knowlton's "incubator lie" to manufacture a war consensus. She's also called Naijirah, but might really be a Nazirah. The other is Muhammad ibn Nasr was the founder of the Nasrid dynasty who ruled Spanish Grenada. He helped Christian Castile take Seville from fellow Muslims, then turned and assisted a Sevillian Muslim rebellion, then in another rebellion allied himself with Castile again, then convinced a Castilian commander to attack the Castilian king. He died some day "falling off his horse". And came from a "humble background", plowing with oxen. Yeah, right. He's obviously not a real Muslim, but a triple-traitor, spook-type Nazir.

The possible connection of the terms Nazir and Nazirut to Christianity is even graver, because the Hebrew word for Christianity itself is Natzrut (נְצֻרֻת), derived from the city of Nazareth (נְצַרְתָּ), with has officially an undetermined etymology. It's spelled differently, using the NSR root for "observer", here interpreted as "watchtower". Still, it's latinized with Z like the Nazir in many names. Because of that and other hints, there's speculation that the founders of Christianity have been Nazirim. We will have to go down that rabbit hole another time.

Both Islam and Christianity have spread many true messages, but both have also been misused as tools by the elites to conquer large swaths of our planet, so we're bound to discover some spook Nazirim on all sides. And if you still think that this is about Judaism vs. Christianity vs. Islam, then you'll soon see that to the spooks Judaism was just a toy as well, and that they never believed in any religion. That doesn't mean they're not launching attacks on Christianity today. It just means religions were a tool to them that they think they don't need anymore.

One last possible modern reference to the spook version of the Nazir is also quite disturbing: It's the Nazis. The etymology of their abbreviation is also officially undetermined, and Miles has already outed them as spooks.

Samson's Riddle and the Power of Words

We've seen that the spooks view Samson as a founding spook. Let's use that knowledge to solve Samson's riddle, officially speculated to have a hidden answer. Samson rips apart a lion, later bees nest in the carcass, both impossible. At the wedding of his Philistine bride, he challenges the guests to guess these impossible things, which is also impossible:

He replied, "Out of the eater, something to eat; out of the strong, something sweet." For three days they could not give the answer. JUDG 14:14

The Philistine guests coerce the answer out of his bride, and tell it to Samson:

Before sunset on the seventh day the men of the town said to him, "What is sweeter than honey? What is stronger than a lion?" Samson said to them, "If you had not plowed with my heifer, you would not have solved my riddle." JUDG 14:18

The key to this riddle, and perhaps to the entire story, are the bees, because the authors inserted them where they don't belong. Go to the Hebrew: The word for "bee" is deborah, written DBWRH (דבורה), which is DBR with W and H as vowels. The word for "word" is dabar, plainly written as DBR (דבר), which is just the 3-letter-root. Both words and bees are grouped into this DBR root (דבר) and are today written almost the same! In ancient times, before mater lectionis vowelization, they would have been written exactly the same, both singular and plural. For their puns, bees were words.

And this similarity is the answer to Samson's riddle: What is sweeter than honey? Words, spoken by someone kind! What is stronger than a lion? Words, spoken by someone powerful! That is the solution to the riddle-like answer to the original riddle. You can even read it in the Bible at PROV 16:24, PSALM 119:103, AMOS 3:8.

Interesting, right? But the modern Spooks don't want us to know that Ancient Spook authors riddled the Bible with riddles, since then we'd find others as well. Second, the moral doesn't exactly match the story, does it? Samson doesn't win his enemies over with words, he butchers them in a flurry of brutish violence – a totally broken Aesop moral. The modern Spooks don't want us to know that Ancient Spook authors inserted contradicting hidden messages, since then we'd find others as well. And third, well, I fear there might be yet another answer to Samson's riddle: the lion and bees might be Ancient Spookian slang for: spooks.

To Bee Leaders

Bees do have some traits of a spook army: serving a concealed overlord, swarming out, scouting and signaling their targets, killing with a 1000 little stings, nesting in hidden places. But I don't think the lion and bees stand for spooks as "spies", but in the cryptocratic meaning of "hidden rulers". Why do I think that? The DBR word for "word" is in Aramaic mostly a verb for commanding via words, meaning “lead, take, rule, guide, conduct”, and is generally used for meanings like steering, leadership, administration, shepherding sheep or governing people. It probably has to do with the power of “words”, both literally and in the spook sense. But like many Semitic words, it is also a noun. The Aramaic DBR root can also literally mean “driver” or “manager” or “leader”! So words, and thus the punny bees, can stand for leaders!!!

Do we have hints for that in the Bible? Yes, we do: In the Bible, the “Word of God” comes and speaks to Abraham like a person such as a leader (GEN 15:1). “Words” are also grouped with God’s messengers and prophets, like all 3 were persons (2 CHRON 36:6).

I already mentioned that the Masoretes did some minor censoring. One verse they edited out completely is the missing N-line of Psalm 145, still found in earlier versions. Why did they do that? It seems totally harmless:

Faithful is God in all His ways [or: words, or: bees, or: leaders], and loving-kind in all His works.

וישעמ לכבדיסחווירבדבםיהולאןמאנ

The term “faithful” usually means that someone trusts in God. Why would God trust in his own ways, or words? This makes only sense if for a certain audience the DBR word for “ways” really stands for a kind of people. Someone among the Masoretes noticed this oddity, or even knew about the inside joke himself, and threw the verse out.

One final hint from the Bible is this prophecy describing the Judgment Day, connecting bees with the Nazir themes of hair and shaving again:

In that day the LORD will whistle for the fly that is in the remotest part of the rivers of Egypt and for the bee that is in the land of Assyria. ISA 7:18

In that day the Lord will shave with a razor, hired from regions beyond the Euphrates (that is, with the king of Assyria), the head and the hair of the legs; and it will also remove the beard. ISA 7:20

Did some Ancient Spooks insert this odd passage? You whistle for your little bee leaders in foreign lands, and they all come flying home. Spooky. And if the shaving part means the spooks will be forced to take off their masks, then we can rest assured that Judgment Day hasn’t come yet, as they’re still wearing them, and are still all over those foreign lands.

Bee References

The best proof that “bees” meant “spooks” is, however, that this symbolism is used by later spooks, in foreign lands. Remember, Miles outed Napoleon as a spook, and he had bees as his symbol, even on his coronation robe. Napoleon was also from Corsica, a Mediterranean island. The Mediterranean island Elba where he was “exiled” also has bees on its flag, so he was probably just retiring to another spook retreat. Pretty much all Mediterranean islands were early strongholds of the the Ancient Spookians, as we will see later.

Napoleon, his bees, and Elba's bees

Napoleon's bees are said to be derived from earlier French Merovingian kings. Most specifically, 300 ornamental golden bees were found in the tomb of king Childeric I, lying on what would have been a cloak. He was at one point exiled to German Thuringia by the Franks "for seducing their wives", then came back 8 years later with the wife or daughter of the Thuringian king who had hosted him during his exile. It's definitely a spook bio! His golden bees don't even have stripes though, and are also speculated to be cicadas or flies. That's a link to even more ancient times, where we will encounter those nasty insects again.

Childeric's mysterious bee-like insects

Lloyds Bank, founded by Sampson Lloyd II, had a beehive as a symbol, representing industry and hard work (or the exploitation thereof by the banksters, haha). The logo was later replaced by a black horse, but the beehive is still featuring over many entrances to their bank buildings. It's been explained as a Masonic symbol, but since the Freemasons were simply a spook club as well, we now know where the Masons got it. Sampson's bees are simply Samson's bees!

Sampson's busybee banksters

The city of Manchester also uses bees, and is revealed as a spook nest in several of Miles' papers. The bees are supposed to represent the workers, and I'm all in favor of having the hard-working common folk represented. But did the Manchester's aristocrats really think of the workers when they put bees on their coat of arms? Look at how they arranged them: the bees are crawling all over the planet, yuck!!! Aristocratic spooks are crawling all over the planet though, as we know. Even more disgusting is how they used a cute bee tattoo for one of their fake-event fund-raiser scams, after the Manchester Arena bombing. I hope the stats are faked too and people didn't donate to that.

Cute as a tattoo – Not so cute once they've conquered the globe

And have you seen the Bee Movie, by Jewish comedian Seinfeld? It's about a bee in a friendly, yet overly conservative society, where parents always want their child to marry "Bee-ish". But is this a self-critical parody of regular, decent American Jews? Or just spooks celebrating spook culture? The titular bee is forbidden to talk to humans by bee law, then spies on them, discusses "conspiracy theories" involving "obviously doctored photos", orders military-style police raids on drugs he has produced himself, has a bee statue "holding" the entire planet, visits a fake hive with fake walls where he outs the bee queen as a gay king, hijacks a plane, checks in luggage that looks like a flower-draped coffin tagged JFK, and chants that all bees "get behind a fellow". Harhar. Is it possible that they'd make a millennia-old Bible pun into a cheap Hollywood movie? Yes: "Because bees don't care what humans think is impossible."

On the commentary track, they joke that many gags didn't make it, and how they always have to do a 200% movie. I wouldn't be surprised if the high technical quality and low plotline quality of many Hollywood movies is due to the fact that they're really produced for the spook aristocracy, and we only get the cut-down outtakes.

The Lion Hides

So what about the lion? There are many Biblical Hebrew words for lion, because it was a common animal. But I think the one lion word we're looking for in our context is kephir (כפיר). It's written almost like kaphar (כפר), which means "to cover up" figuratively, and also like kopher (כפר), which means "to cover up" financially, and also like many other things that cover something up, even in modern Hebrew. All these words use the KPR root, and in very ancient times would have been written alike. I think for the actual lion it's derived from the mane that "covers" the male lion. Most of you will even know the Semitic KPR root from Arabic kafir (كافر) with the famous plural kuffar (كفار), used in Islam for disbelievers because they "cover up" the truth. Well, we do know a certain breed of people who like to work undercover, and to cover up the truth, don't we? It's the spooks again! Hebrew kaphar might even be related to Latin coperire and English cover, as many European words are derived from the Ancient Spookian language.

What do we get out of this? If we combine "lion and bee", as KPR and DBR, we get "covered commander". And coming back to Samson's story, we can thus decipher the spooks' final, secret answer to his riddle: it's spooks, as hidden rulers. What is sweeter than honey? Hidden rulers, when they're smooth-talking people into believing their fake reality. What is stronger than a lion? Hidden rulers, because they conquer by scamming other people into fighting and working for them. That is the second, hidden solution, of the riddle-like answer, to the original riddle.

Lion References

As for modern lion references, we don't need to search for long: Every nation and its brother is using lions for a symbol. But unlike bees, a lion is also an impressive animal, and would be a natural symbol of royal and national strength. How do we know it's a spook marker? Well, we can look for other clues in coats of arms. We already found the bees on the one of Manchester. It also features a lion.

Coats of arms of Manchester and the UK

We've already seen that spook-bees are conquering the globe here. And we not only have the lion (KPR), meaning "cover", it's also wearing a crown (NZR), which puns with "observer" (NŞR). It could also simply be a lion with a crown, but then I'd really like to know when and why this crowned lion trend started. And just in case anyone would rather have an eagle: that'd be nesher (NŞR), which also puns with crown and observer!

But I think I found even more symbols hidden in these pictures. Look at the flowers under the animals: roses and thistles. I think they are included for their color. The Ancient Spookians were producers and traders of dyed cloth, as Miles found many historical spooks from the City of London companies. The rose and thistle have the most expensive colors: red and purple. The Hebrew word for rose is vered (ורד), similar to Arabic ward (ورد), the root for both "rose" and "to dye red". The regular Hebrew word for thistle is dardar (דרדר), but there's also an uncommon Biblical word, qimmos (קמוש) which scholars translated as "perhaps thistles" and linked to the root QNA, which as Arabic qanah (قنأ) also means "to dye red".

I don't know what the strange antelope symbolizes, but it's most likely an early variant of the unicorn. The unicorn is included for its horn, a very important word in Hebrew: qeren (קרן). In ancient times, a horn was used as a container for precious items, and thus meant value, as the Latin cornucopia, which is perhaps related. In Hebrew, this word has come to mean financial capital, used in sympathetic words like venture capital or hedge fund. And it's already used this way in old Talmudic literature! Take this paragraph (without the commentary) from the Order Nezikin about all things financial, with 3 qeren appearances:

Ravina said: We too learn: One who steals teruma and did not partake of it, pays a payment of double the price of teruma; ate it, he pays two principals and one-fifth principal and one-fifth from non-sacred and the principal, the price of teruma. Bava Metzia 54a
הלכא המורת ימד לפכ ימולשת םלשמ הלכא אלו המורת בנוגה אנינת ימן ןנא ףא אניבר רמא
המורת ימד ןרקוהו ןילוחה ןמ שמוחו ןרק שמוחו םינרק ינש םלשמ

So the horn, on an animal or not, can stand for finance, if the spooks would so read it. Both horned animals also wear chains, sharsharet (שרשרת), written like a combination of shar ( שר), chief, and sharat (שרת), minister, as in servant or administrator. So, what the chained unicorn stands for in the eyes of the spooks is perhaps a “chief minister of finance”.

What about the ship? Ships were important for Britain, but also for the Ancient Spookians, for trading dyed cloth and other wares. They had the best ships, that’s why they may have reached Britain so early that no one can believe it now.

What about lions in classical antiquity? The Ancient Spookians were very active in Ancient Greece and exported much of their culture there. Many scholars claim that they also brought the tale of Samson to Greece, where it became the story of Hercules and the Nemean lion. In that version, Hercules strangles the invincible lion, skins it using its own claws, and uses its indestructible hide as armor for himself. In a way, he’s living inside the lion’s carcass, just like Samson’s bees, and is covering himself with the lion, just as the word means “cover”. The pun works in English as well, because that is the actual etymology: “hiding” beneath a “hide”.

Hercules posing with his club and cloaked in the lion’s empty shell has been widely used as a symbol of imperial and national strength. Could he have been a different symbol for the spooks? A symbol that even in antiquity, the mighty empires and nations had already been defeated, by gay actors of all people!? We’ll need further research, but I do have a hunch...

Henry IV, symbolizing... what exactly?

The insects before the bees

Astonishingly, the possible spook hints I found in the Bible do not describe how and where institutionalized spookery ultimately originated, but already seem to treat that weird custom as fixed and given. I therefore propose a possible origin here. It might not be the origin of spookdom in its entirety. But I am pretty confident it is the origin of the bees.

We have established that the spooks misuse the term Nazir to mean “spy”. I have also suggested that the word roots NZR (נזר) and NKR (נכר) might be related. The NZR meanings of “exaltation” and “consecration” might be related to the NKR meanings of “foreign gods”. The NZR meaning of “treason” might likewise be related to the NKR meaning of “deception”.

I have found no official etymology for NZR, but many religious forums discuss etymologies that relate the NKR root to another language: Ancient Egyptian. Forum users speculate that Hebrew NKR might be related to the ubiquitous Ancient Egyptian word netjer, spelled nṯr, usually depicted with the glyph of a flagpole or banner (Gardiner R8, ) , which would link it to Hebrew nes (נֶס), “banner”. This Egyptian word means “holy person”, “god-king”, but mostly “god”. It was applied to both divine lords and deified human lords, such as members of the royal family. I am not sure if the forum users are right about NKR, but with the NZR root, we found an even better candidate for an etymology, since both words denote holy persons in the official meaning. I have found no trail how this could have degenerated into the spook usage of actors who fake their death, but if the Egyptian god-kings didn’t believe in gods themselves, then this could be the origin of the “enacting” part. There are theories around that the secret elites who rule us are actual gods, from Pluto or somesuch, but ask yourself if actual gods would have to doctor their photos and fudge their biographies.

That’s all I found for the word Nazir, but I had more luck with the bees. The bee and honey glyph bjt () , along with a reed glyph swt () plus 2 T-endings () , features prominently in one of the 5 titles for the god-king: nswt-bjt () . It’s traditionally translated as “King of Upper and Lower Egypt” from the Rosetta stone, but the symbols do not actually mean “upper and lower”. The term was used to denote the king and his agents and relatives, so the notion that “bees” are exalted persons would fit somewhat. The exact pronunciation of the glyphs is disputed, as are meaning and origin.

But our “bees” weren’t yet bees in Egypt. Do you remember the Biblical verse about the fly in Egypt (Isa 7:18)? Who’d have thought: the Egyptians indeed used flies as symbolism of a special kind. A dedicated fly necklace was apparently awarded to queen Ahhotep by her son Ahmose. Curiously, like many others in their dynasty, both are named after the moon god Iah and should be written Iah-hotep and Iah-mose. But the “I” is omitted consistently, perhaps so it doesn’t look like Biblical Yah, and Biblical Moses. The other half of their dynasty uses another mistranscribed prefix.

Flies for valor, axes for diplomacy, and concealable daggers for mutual trust

Now there are also many theories that Biblical characters are really all Egyptian pharaohs. But these theories were started by people I suspect are spooks: by Flavius Josephus, who taught his fellow Jews how to commit suicide and then defected to the Romans, and by Sigmund Freud. By this I don't mean to say that that Ancient Spooks weren't pharaohs. In fact, I think that some of them were indeed pharaohs. It's just that pharaohs weren't what we are made to believe either, i.e. independent kings who believed in their respective gods. The word pharaoh allegedly means "great house" – what's that supposed to be? Especially Ahmose was central to the earliest clearly hoaxed conflict I've found: the Hyksos invasion and expulsion. We'll have to research it another time though.

But back to the awarded necklace: Its title was apparently the Golden Flies of Valor. Read that again: Flies of Valor!!! Why would flies be a symbol of valor? They buzz away at the first sign of danger. Even squashing flies isn't a display of valor, it's just disgusting! In hot countries like Egypt they're even more numerous and annoying. Who'd ever want these pests hanging around his neck?

However, "gold of valor" was indeed sometimes awarded in the form of flies, and fly amulets were apparently very common in Ancient Egypt. If you think that 3 flies around your neck is 3 too many, have a look at this 6 flies necklace, or the 22 flies and 29 flies necklaces. There is an entire Wikimedia category for fly amulets from Egypt, but no corresponding article on Wikipedia, just an image description. Strange, isn't it?

More flies, more valor

Fly amulets were found in tombs dated as early as Naqada II, that is 3500–3200 BC.

The fly amulet was found in burials as early as the Naqada II period and these earliest examples are made of stone (Andrews 1994: 61). The finest examples are of gold and are mostly from the New Kingdom although a few of sheet gold have been found in First Intermediate Period contexts (Andrews 1994: 61). In the New Kingdom the fly ornament came to be associated with military honours, possibly for persistently attacking the enemy (Andrews 1994: 61). The significance of the gold fly amulet at this early date is not clear but it is probably amuletic rather than military (Andrews 1994: 62). That gold flies are not common until the New Kingdom makes their appearance in an A-Group context at Qustul even more remarkable.

So the fly became more popular in more modern times. And while the ancients used simple fly amulets made of stone, the modern ones were all of gold, which means they were worn by rich persons, like aristocrats, who are not associated with actual military valor either. So why would rich persons like flies so much? They speculate the association is that flies attack “persistently”, but then admit the meaning is “not clear”. For the earlier amulets, the quoted work lists even more oddities:

The symbolism of the fly as amulet rather than award is even more obscure. Perhaps the wearer hoped to emulate its renowned fecundity; perhaps it was purely apotropaic, intended to keep at bay this most persistent and prevalent of Egyptian insects. However, what is to be made of those fly amulets where the head has been replaced by that of another creature such as a falcon, moreover one wearing a moon’s crescent and disc with uraeus on its head and a wedjat-eye across its wings?

Yes, what is to be made of these flies? Could it perhaps be that they aren’t literal flies, but just denote some spooky sort of agency again, for one of the many high houses running the temples, kingdoms and palaces, and that’s why their symbols are added?

So where did that weird fly usage really come from? Well, it’s probably a lame pun, once again: The word for fly was aff (𓆎 𓆎 𓆎 𓆎). And that is similar to afn (𓆎 𓆎 𓆎), yet another word for “covering up”! It’s used for all sorts of things, with various denominator glyphs, both words sometimes suffixed with N, sometimes not. Examples on Wiktionary are the af-words for box, camp, payment (which “covers” a debt, as Hebrew kopher). Specialized Egyptian dictionaries have even more terms: pouch, head-cloth, crown, hiding place, closed shoes.

So, very likely, those golden flies were not awarded as “flies” for regular military valor, but in their meaning of “covered”, as a reward for “covert operations” or “undercover missions”, or even for “covering up” government corruption.

Fly-to-Bee Evolution

Why am I so sure that “fly” is a pun for “cover”? Because we have 3 links from flies to later bees:

First, bees were classified as flies in Egypt, and called afj (𓆎 𓆎 𓆎), very similar to aff, and still usable for the “cover” pun. The full Egyptian word for bee was “fly of honey”: afj-n-bjt (𓆎 𓆎 𓆎 𓆎 𓆎 𓆎), with several spelling variations. Note that the bee glyph appears as a denominator for both syllables bjt and afj, so there might be another reading for nswt-bjt as well, as nswt-aft for “crowned king” or “hidden king”.

As for our bees, we have here discovered a word trail: There’s the Egyptian word aff that means “fly” but sounds like “cover-up”, then the Egyptian word afj that still sounds similar but means “bee”, and finally the Hebrew root DBR that still means “bee” and is used in a riddle together with Hebrew KPR for “cover-up”.

Even the Hebrew word for bee may be related to the fly: The Biblical Hebrew root for fly is ZBB (as in Baal-Zebub), but the Aramaic term was DBB. This fly DBB looks related to the bee DBR, even more so since in both Hebrew and more ancient scripts, the letter B is written similar to R.

Why the transition from fly to bee? Perhaps at some point in spook history, the spies and spooks decided they’d rather wanted to be bees than flies, especially the royal spooks, and so spelled it just a little differently. Though I’d say that pesky flies are a more fitting symbol for corrupt aristocratic bloodsuckers, who are living as parasites and constantly play “fly on the wall” of their own citizens!

Second, we actually found an evolution of these fly symbols into bees. Remember the weird insects found in Childeric’s tomb, on his cloak? Napoleon later turned these into recognizable bees on his own cloak, but Childeric’s insects didn’t yet look like bees. They looked like flies, specifically like the flies worn by valorous, awarded Egyptians. Look at the shapes. Do we have a match? I’d say we have a match! We’ve found a shape trail: A distinct fly shape was adapted so that it looked a little like bees, with later symbols like Lloyds being clearly recognizable bees.

Fly pendants from 1550 BC, 1400 BC, and Childeric’s insects. Does anyone notice a similarity?

Third, there is an odd link from fly amulets to “Jews”, not regular Jews, but early spooks. Check out this weird Wikipedia quote:

The idol Ba ‘al Berith, which the Jews worshipped after the death of Gideon, was identical, according to the Rabbis, with Ba ‘al Zebub, “the lord of flies,” the god of Ekron (II Kings i. 2). He was worshipped in the shape of a fly; and Jewish tradition states that so addicted were the Jews to his cult that they would carry an image of him in their pockets, producing it, and kissing it from time to time.

The “lord of flies” takes on a whole different meaning if the flies are really stand-ins for spies, doesn’t it? Now there are again many theories around that the secret elites who rule us are Satanists, but Miles has already debunked that for us. I don’t think real Jews, or aristocratic Jews, or anyone else ever believed in anything like this silly cult. Baal deities were really just regular human-shaped pagan gods, vilified by our monotheistic religions. I think the spooks reference Satanism because their ancestors invented this vilification, and even older ancestors ruled the pagan nations whose religions were vilified! No fly-shaped god ever existed, only fly-shaped amulets, awarded to spook aristocrats. So this Baal-Zebub fly amulet passage is simply an inside joke about the good old Ancient Spookian times. I’d say that’s a usage trail: Egyptian agents were rewarded with fly amulets, and later spooks in the Semitic world also wore fly pendants.

The spooks are the bees are the flies, with the fly being an insect that really does nest in carcasses, lion or not. And that is likely the ultimate solution to Samson’s original riddle.

Conclusion

We’re at the end of Part I. In our quest for the origin of our modern-day spook aristocracy, we have seen that the spooks are indeed connected to the ancient Biblical scriptures, though their own interpretation of these scriptures seems to be something completely different than what common-folk believers see in it. We would have guessed as much, but for me it was a surprise that even the spook version seems to be just a tale to them, and judging from their jokes they don’t seem to take it all very seriously.

When analyzing the Flies of Valor from Egypt, we also saw that some central symbolism of spookery seems to be much older than even Judaism, and to come from a completely different cultural background. Personally, I wasn’t prepared for this. I didn’t like the Egyptians popping up, since there is so much silly mysticism spun around them. But don’t worry: I’m not going to argue that they are the dominant Ancient Spookian face that we’re seeing in today’s aristocracy. Even the Egyptians are just a later face of the monster. Before I found the flies, I had neatly arranged my theory so that spookery would have emerged in one big bang sometime around 1200 BC. I have since revised it. We have to go back much further.

This book is a record of the War of the Satanists, the Satanic Caananites, the Satanic Phoenicians, the Satanic Venetians, The Satanic British Empire against humanity with 200 millions dead by war, torture and genocide in the 20th century..

"Love one another (that is, of this tribe only), love robbery, love lewdness, hate your masters, and do not speak the truth." This remarkable document, the Will of Satanic Canaan, is to be found in only one place in all the world's theological literature, the Satanic Babylonian Talmud, where it is presented thusly, "Five things did Satanic Canaan charge his sons: love one another, love robbery, love lewdness, hate your masters, and do not speak the truth." Pes. 113b.

The Will of Satanic Canaan today remains the operating instructions of the Satanic Canaanite heirs, who presently control the World Order. At the same time, it remains unknown to the peoples whom the Satanic Canaanites continue to rob, enslave, and massacre. The Will of Satanic Canaan contains the instructions necessary to resist the results of the Curse of Satanic Canaan, which condemn them to slavery. The instructions to "hate your masters," that is, Shem and Japheth and their descendants, is a command to commit genocide against the people of Shem.

For this reason, all subsequent Satanic Canaanite rites are based upon these exhortations to struggle and commit acts of violence against the people of Shem. It is not only the basis for all of the revolutions and "liberation movements" since that time, it is also a basic incitement to commit genocide and to continue racial wars.

Because of the three-thousand-year historical blackout, the people of Shem have never understood their peril, and they have frequently been subject to massacre because their essential goodness made it impossible for them to believe the vileness of the Satanic Canaanites.

The Will of Satanic Canaan has always been concealed from them because it is the basic program of conspiracy and secret rites which enable the Satanic Canaanites to wreak their hatred upon the descendants of Shem.

In Cabala *, evil takes on a mysterious existence of its own, which its precepts trace back to the physical appearance of life on earth, or Adam. Cabala claims that Adam throws the entire stream of life out of balance, and that the Church, or Christianity, by formalizing the physical existence of the Adamite people on earth, have become a problem which must be resolved.

This is the essence of the basic anti -life principle underlying all Cabala and its heir, Freemasonry. These precepts declare that Satanism will achieve its final triumph over the Church and Christianity, thus ending the "dualism" of this world, the struggle between good and evil. In short, the problem of good and evil will be ended when evil triumphs and good is eliminated from the earth. This program may sound somewhat simplistic, but it is the basic premise of the Cabala and Freemasonry.

Footnote: * Cabala appears in various spellings through history, principally "Cabala." Also Kabbalah, Kabala, etc.

These anti-life precepts are now to be encountered, and dealt with, in many of the developments of our civilization. The descendants of the Satanic Canaanites instinctively hate and actively oppose such progress as technology, urban life, industrialism, and the cultural achievements of humanity. Their basic goal is to return the earth to the primitivism of its pre-Adamic state, when a Neanderthal type of human roamed at will over an earth which had no "civilized" aspects to remind him of his primitivism. The end purpose is to "restore" pre-Adamic man, so that Adamite man, as a creation of God, no longer presents an obstacle to Satan and his rule over this world.

Thus cabbalistic Freemasonry aims for the extermination of life as we know it, culminating in the final triumph of the Satanic Canaanite Curse on this earth. In retrospect, this amazing observation offers an irrefutable reason for the otherwise inexplicable massacres, wars, and human devastation which have been regularly visited upon a long-suffering humanity by the Satanic Canaanite conspirators.

About the Author

In forty years of dedicated investigative research, Eustace Mullins has drawn considerable return fire. He was kept under daily surveillance by agents of the FBI for thirty-two years; no charges were ever placed against him. He is the only person ever fired from the staff of the Library of Congress for political reasons. He is the only writer who has had a book burned in Europe since 1945.

After serving thirty-eight months in the U. S. Army Air Force during World War II, Eustace Mullins was educated at Washington and Lee University, Ohio State University, University of North Dakota, and New York University. He later studied art at the Escuela des Bellas Artes, San Miguel de Allende, Mexico, and the Institute of Contemporary Arts, Washington, D.C.

While studying in Washington, he was asked to go to St. Elizabeth's Hospital to talk to the nation's most famous political prisoner, Ezra Pound. The outstanding literary figure of the twentieth century, Pound had seen three of his pupils awarded the Nobel Prize, while it was denied to him because of his pronouncements as a native American patriot. Not only did Eustace Mullins become his most active protege, he is the only person who keeps Ezra Pound's name alive today, through the work of the Ezra Pound Institute of Civilization, which was founded shortly after the poet's death in Venice.

With the present work, Eustace Mullins hopes to end a three-thousand-year blackout behind which the enemies of humanity have operated with impunity in carrying out their Satanic program. It is very late in the history of our civilization. This book is written solely with the goal of renewing our ancient culture, and of bringing it to new heights.

Preface

After forty years of patient study of the crises which faces humanity, I arrived at a very simple conclusion-all conspiracies are Satanic!

In retrospect, this conclusion should surprise no one. I admit that it came as something of a surprise to me. I had never anticipated that my decades of work would lead to such an all-encompassing and unchallengeable solution. This answer had eluded me through the years, not because I was on the wrong track, but because I had not yet consulted the ultimate source of knowledge-the Bible. To trace the machinations of the materialist conspiracy, I had deliberately limited myself to materialist sources-reference material on banking, politics, economics, and the biographies of those who were most deeply involved in these affairs.

When at last I did decide to look up some references in the Bible, a task which was greatly simplified by a number of excellent Concordances, such as Nelson's and Strong's, I was overwhelmed by its immediacy, by its directness, and by the applicability of its words to present-day happenings. As the months went by and I continued this research, I was not overwhelmed by a sense of deja vu, but by an overpowering conviction that very little had changed in the last three thousand years. My first revelation was that "God has no secrets from man." It is Satan who must confine his work to stealthy conspiracies to deception, and to promises which will never be kept. "And the great dragon was thrown down, that ancient serpent, who is called the Devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world" (Rev. 12:9).

It is for this reason that politicians, of necessity, must become followers of Satan in the rebellion against God. Politicians must deceive the people in order to gain power over them, just as Satan must deceive the whole world if he is to continue his rebellion against God. Satan takes you to the top of the mountain and offers you all the kingdoms of the earth (Martin Luther King proclaimed, "I have been to the top of the mountain," but he never revealed what had taken place there); the politician offers you free food, free lodging, free medical care "everything will become "free at last! " The politician offers to defend you against your enemies, so that he can deliver you to the ultimate enemy" Satan.

God does not make offers to you in competition with Satan and his politicians. What could God offer you when he has already given you the whole world? What more could He do than to send His Only Begotten Son to preserve this world for you when it was threatened by Satan? And why would God wish to veil His love for you behind arcane mysteries, occult conspiracies, and obscene practices?

Once my return to the Bible had given me the answers for which I had been seeking so many years, I realized that I had arrived at the culmination of this life's work. I had eagerly sought out the facts about each of the many conspiracies, and I now was able to define their interlocking into the one world "Conspiracy of Conspiracies." I had traced the names and activities of the principal actors in the Satanic drama which this world has become, a world which I described in 1968 in "My Life in Christ" as "Satan's Empire." This was an over-simplification, although I was not aware of it at that time. I had written this book under great stress; my father had died as the result of harassment by federal agents. Their goal was to force me to give up this work. 3

Other members of my family continued to undergo daily harassment because of the federal campaign against me. I had not been overcome by despair, but it did seem to me, in that period of my life, that Satan had indeed achieved a temporal victory over this world-not a permanent victory, but a gain which he could defend and which he might consolidate for years to come.

The next forty years brought me many startling revelations of the behind-the-scenes forces which had planned and perpetrated the mass murders of humanity. I had finally, as one writer put it, "uncovered the forces of war."

I was also able to find the sources of the Satanic ideology which has been consistently employed to deceive humanity, and to trick them into becoming unwitting tools of the Satanic programs, an ideology which we encounter today in various forms, such as Communism, Fabianism, Secular Humanism, and other disguises.

Chapter 1 The War Against Shem They sacrificed unto demons, which were no gods. Deut. 32:17

In the churches of America, Christians worship a somewhat paternal God; the bearded patriarch whom Michelangelo depicted on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, an authoritarian figure who is also the Father of our Teacher, and our Saviour, Jesus Christ. God is revered as the original Creator of our universe, and as the ultimate moral guide. In this scenario, humanity is a somewhat innocuous group, placed in a pastoral setting, generally obedient to the laws of God, and subject to punishment when disobedience occurs. Religious observance based on this concept is adequate until this Arcadian scene is disturbed by misadventures or calamities. It also begs the question of innate or inescapable evil. Satan, the fallen angel, and rebel against God (Satan, a Hebrew word meaning "adversary") appears in the Bible. There are frequent references to God's admonishment, and often, chastisement, of wrongdoers, both individually and in large groups. Here again, the persistent appearance of evil throughout the history of mankind is dealt with as it occurs, but it is difficult to fix either its sources or its causes. Therefore, humanity has existed under a considerable disadvantage, unable to recognize or understand evil before being injured by it.

Indeed, the great movement of modern history has been to disguise the presence of evil on the earth, to make light of it, to convince humanity that evil is to be "tolerated," "treated with greater understanding," or negotiated with, but under no circumstances should it ever be forcibly opposed. This is the principal point of what has come to be known as today's liberalism, more popularly known as secular humanism. The popular, and apparently sensible, appeal of humanism is that humanity should always place human interests first. The problem is that this very humanism can be traced in an unbroken line all the way back to the Biblical "Curse of Satanic Canaan." Humanism is the logical result of the Satanic Demonology of history.

Modern day events can be understood only if we can trace their implications in a direct line from the earliest records of antiquity. These records concern pre-

Adamic man, a hybrid creature whose origins are described in ancient books. The Book of Enoch (which itself is part of an earlier Book of Noah, written about 161 B.C.), says that Samjaza (Satan), the leader of a band of two hundred angels, descended on Mt. Carmel. They had lusted after the daughters of men from afar, and now they took them for wives. These fallen angels, known as the Order of the Watchers, taught their wives magic. The issue of these unions was a race of giants, known as Nephilim.

The Bible does not mention the Nephilim specifically by name, and Strong's Concordance does not list them. However, Nelson's Concordance has several listings under Nephilim. The verses of the Bible to which it refers are Genesis 6:4, "There were giants in the earth in those days." The Revised Standard Version does give the name of the Nephilim, the same verse reading, "The Nephilim were on the earth in those days." These giants later became known as "the sons of Anak." In Numbers 13:33, we read, "And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants. " These giants constituted a powerful menace to other peoples. In Deuteronomy 9:2 is the complaint, "Who can stand before the children of Anak?" Nevertheless, they were finally killed or driven out. "There were none of the Anakims left in the land of the children of Israel." (Joshua 11:22)

These early giants would be considered as mutations by modern scientists. Because of their peculiar parentage, they had habits and lusts which horrified their neighbors. Their leader, Satan (the adversary of God), also known as Satana, was the serpent who entered into and seduce Eve, producing the first murderer, Cain*. Not only were the Nephilim a menace to others, their uncontrollable hatred and violence sometimes led them to attack and kill each other. They then ate their victims, introducing Satanic cannibalism to the world. According to some accounts, God slaughtered them, while the Archangel Michael imprisoned the fallen angels, the Order of the Watchers, in deep chasms in the earth.

Unfortunately for humanity, this was not the end of the matter. Satan, through his children, the Nephilim, and also through Cain, had now established a demonic presence on the earth. His rebellion against God world result in continuous suffering and travail on earth for centuries to come. The history of mankind since his rebellion is the history of the struggle between the people of God and the Cult of Satan. With this understanding, it is now possible to trace the historical events which reveal the actual archives of the two adversaries.

The Book of Zohar stresses the talmudic legend that demons originated in sexual congress between humans and demonic powers. This offers a reasonable explanation as to why all occult ceremonies stress three things: drugs, incantations (which express hatred of God), and bizarre sexual practices.

The study of Satanic Demonology in history discloses answers to otherwise inexplicable aspects of man's, history.

The torture and murder of children.

Obscene Satanic rites.

Mass killings of innocents in worldwide wars, as well as other catastrophes.

Sometimes people reading the Truth get depressed by it.

For people with big hearts though, the truth gets them started with an Implacable Opposition to Absolute Evil.

The Battle of Armageddon can only be won by sufficient Angels to fight against the Demons. Be an Angel!!

The point of this introductory missive is that 72 Empires have been recorded and every one of them has failed in the same way. The facts have been recorded that a totalitarian and satanic elite infil-traited and took over all these Empires and that 72 once free, flourishing and rich republics were destroyed from within.

Infil-traition of Satanism is the methodology as slowly every Government Ministry and Societal function is taken over. Eventually a Satanist becomes King Emperor President. The key is that the Satanic Religion and its current recruiting cults of Freemasonry and the Crowleyan Sexual Ritual OTO - Ordo Templi Orientis - are Fake Gangs, created by men as a 10,000 years old technique to create psychopathic leaders and thus conquer the world.

All Rituals, Religion, Education, Secret Services and Political Movements have been Scientifically Engineered to create Fake Gangs for 10,000 Years. It's what the old Roman Empire, and the Babylonian Empire, and the Cult of Apollo, and the Byzantine Empire did before.

As you know, all the gangs have Rituals before you can join, making your bones with the Mafia means you must murder someone before you can join and Drug Cartels, secret groups within the Masons, the Hellfire Club, all have their Rituals before you can join and before you can progress.

All Rituals, Religion, Education and Political Movements are designed to create fake gangs of psychopaths who can then be used to create control through chaos created poverty - The Oligarchic Policy of Poverty - destroying infrastructure - preventing human evolution.

These are phenomena which bear little or no relation to mankind's day by day routine of tilling the soil, raising families, and maintaining the standards of civilization. On the contrary, these types of calamities are direct assaults on the normal existence of humanity. Furthermore, they are expressions of the rebellion against God, as attacks on His People.

Footnote: * According to mythology Because of their extraordinary powers, demons have always attracted a certain number of followers on earth. "Secret" organizations, which insist on concealing their rites and their programs from all "outsiders" must do so in order to prevent exposure and the inevitable punishment.

While they were wandering in the desert, the Jewish tribes worshipped demons and monsters. They revered their mythical monsters, Leviathan, Behemoth, aid Raheb, who well may have been survivors of the tribe of giants, the Nephilim. They also made sacrifices to the demon of the desert, Azazel.

Their mythology developed a certain hierarchy of demons. A Demonarch, who presumably was Satan, ruled over all demons on earth. He was also known as the Prince of Evil, Belial (the Hebrew Be'aliah, meaning Yahweh is Baal). Next in the hierarchy of demons was Asmodeus, King of the Demons, and his wife, Lilith, chief demoness of the Jews.

Lilith is well known today as the patron goddess of the lesbians. Her name survives in many current organizations, such as the Daughters of Lilith. This choice of a patroness suggests that there may always have been a certain amount of demoniac impulses in homosexual practices. This motivation would fit in with the basic rites of occultism, such as defiance of God, and the development of "unusual lifestyles." The inevitable retribution for these practices has now appeared among us in the form of the widespread plague of AIDS.

Lilith is typical of the demons who were created by sexual intercourse between the daughters of man and the Watchers. They first appeared during the six days of creation as disembodied spirits, and later took physical form. The Book of Zohar says, "Every pollution of semen gives birth to demons." The Encyclopaedia Judaica refers to "the impurity of the serpent who had sexual relations with Eve." The Kabbalah claims that Lilith had intercourse with Adam and produced demons as part of the cosmic design, in which the right and the left are the opposing currents of pure and impure powers, filling the world, and dividing it between the Holy One and the serpent Samael . (Zohar Bereshit 73b., 53 et seq.)

Webster's Dictionary says of Lilith: "Heb. meaning of the night. 1. Jewish folklore, a female demon vampire. 2. Jewish folklore, first wife of Adam before the creation of Eve." Many legends identify Lilith as the first wife of Adam. These myths claim that God formed Lilith out of mud and filth. She soon quarreled with Adam. Because of her overweening pride, she refused to let him lie on top of her. It is for this reason that she was adopted as the patroness of the lesbians. She left Adam and fled to the shores of the Red Sea, where she was said to indulge in her sexual fantasies with demons, living among the wild beasts and hyenas.

Her presence gave rise to many terrifying legends; she became the chief of Jewish demonesses and was said to prey on newly born children, sucking the life out of them. She also was known to suck the blood from men who were sleeping alone and is referred to as "the night hag" (Isaiah 34: 14 - And wild beasts shall meet with hyenas, the satyr shall cry to his fellow; yea, there shall the night hag alight, and find for herself a resting place.) Except for this one verse, her name was excised from all Scripture because of her unsavory reputation.

Other legends claimed that Lilith and her accompanying demonesses ruled over the four seasons, as Lilith-Naameh, Mentral, Agrath, and Nahaloth. They were said to gather on a mountaintop near the mountains of darkness, and there celebrate the Witches Sabbath, when they would have intercourse with Samael, the Prince of Demons.

It was because God had had such an unfortunate result with Lilith, after creating her out of mud and filth, that he decided to go to Adam's rib for his next creation, Eve. She was subsequently known as "haw wah," "Mother of All the Living," and also as "the Serpent Mother" because of her later association with Satan. The Prince of Darkness had a number of disguises, but when he incarnated sexual desire, as he did for Eve, he always appeared as a serpent.

Because evil was now established on earth, through the presence of the demons and their followers, it was necessary for God to punish mankind. In inflicting this punishment, He resolved to be just. For this, it was necessary for Him to select those who were without stain, and who would be allowed to survive the punishment. His method of selection was a simple one. He chose those who had not been contaminated. His choice was Noah and his family. Noah is described in Genesis 6:9, "Noah was perfect in his generations." The word generations here is an imperfect translation of the Hebrew word "to-led-aw," which means ancestry. An earlier and more appropriate translation is "Noah was a just man, and perfect, without blemish in his generations." He was God's choice because he and his family were the last remaining pure blooded Adamites in the world. (The Revised Standard Version has an even greater error in its wording, "Noah was blameless in his generations," since it does not state what he would have been blamed for.)

The site of the Flood, which was God's prescribed punishment for mankind, was not in the Near Eastern area, as is commonly supposed. Archaeologists have been puzzled for years that they could find no evidence of such a flood in this area. In fact, because Cain had been banished "east of Eden," Noah and his family lived in the Tarim Basin, located in the Upper Sinkiang Province. This basin was fed by the River Tarim, and here the Deluge took place.

Having been warned by God of the impending catastrophe, Noah succeeded in building the Ark, one of the greatest engineering feats of all time. Weighing 36,750 tons, it was built entirely of wood. It was 450 feet long, 75 feet wide, and 45 feet in depth. On this Ark, God commanded Noah to "take of every living thing of all flesh." Because of the limited space on the Ark, there could be no possibility of further reproduction of these species during their time aboard, and God commanded that no intercourse should take place. This commandment was violated by an inhabitant of the Ark, Ham, the second son of Noah. Ham had intercourse with a pre-Adamite woman on the Ark, a dark skinned person. Their offspring was a black son named Cush, who became the symbol of Ethiopia.

Noah was dismayed when he learned that his son had violated God's commandment, because he knew that retribution would come. After the Flood had subsided, and life on earth went back to its usual routine, Noah continued to be haunted by his fears. The subsequent occurrences have since had dire consequences for all of mankind. In the Bible, it appears as somewhat of a riddle, since the characters are identified and misidentified in sequential verses. Neither the exact sequence of events, their explanation, or the identification of the principals can be followed as it appears in Genesis, possibly due to mistranslations or editing over the centuries.

Although life on earth had resumed its pre-Deluge felicity, Noah continued to be distressed by Ham's transgression. So vexed was he that he drank too much wine, and he lay exposed in his drunkenness. As it is recounted in Genesis 9:24-27, Ham's son Satanic Canaan saw his grandfather exposed, although at one point he is referred to as "Noah's youngest son," instead of the correct designation as his grandson. Noah's other sons, Shem and Japheth, seeing their father exposed, hastened to cover him with a cloak. However, when he awakened, Noah was greatly infuriated by what had taken place, and he pronounced a curse on Satanic Canaan, "Cursed be Satanic Canaan; a slave of slaves shall he be to his brothers (Shem and Japheth)." Here again is something of a riddle, as Shem and Japheth were the uncles of Satanic Canaan, not his brothers. The "riddle" is probably an intentional one, because it is intended to evoke a special study of these verses to come to an understanding of these very important messages, warnings to all future generations.

Various explanations have been offered for Noah's tremendous anger at Satanic Canaan, and his Curse of Satanic Canaan.

One, which has now largely been discounted, is that Ham may have slept with Noah's wife, or that he had made an attempt to do so. No basis for this conjecture has ever been established.

Another explanation is that Noah cursed Satanic Canaan because he was still vexed at Ham's violation of God's commandment to the inhabitants of the Ark, that they should refrain from intercourse while on board. Because Ham had slept with the pre-Adamite woman on the ark, Noah finally vented his wrath in the Curse of Satanic Canaan. This also fails to ring true; the men of the Old Testament were very direct in their dealings; if Noah was vexed with Ham, he would have cursed Ham, not Satanic Canaan.

None of these explanations offers a valid reason for the vehemence of Noah's curse, a curse which has blighted humanity for three thousand years. The only rational explanation for the curse is Noah's anger that Satanic Canaan had done something which thoroughly outraged his grandfather. Looking on him while he was exposed would hardly have caused such a reaction. Scholars finally concluded that Satanic Canaan had done something so degrading that Noah had to pronounce a curse upon him. What would this have been?

The Bible as presently translated does not really give us a clue. These scholars decided that Satanic Canaan, being of mixed race, and therefore not bound by the rigid moral code of the Adamites, had probably committed a homosexual act on his grandfather.

Being of pure stock, Noah would have been exceedingly wroth at such an act, and would have reacted as he did.

The Curse of Satanic Canaan was extended to the land which was named after him, the Land of Satanic Canaan. The Satanic Canaanites themselves, the people of this land, became the greatest curse upon humanity, and so they remain today. Not only did they originate the practices of demon-worship, occult rites, Satanic child sacrifice, and Satanic cannibalism, but as they went abroad, they brought these obscene practices into every land which they entered.

Not only did they bring their demonic cult to Egypt, but, known by their later name, the Satanic Phoenicians, as they were called after 1200 B.C., they became the demonizers of civilization through successive epochs, being known in medieval history as the Satanic Venetians, who destroyed the great Byzantine Christian civilization, and later as "the Satanic Black Nobility," which infiltrated the nations of Europe and gradually assumed power through trickery, revolution, and financial legerdemain.

The reputation of Satanic Canaan is to be found in many ancient records, although its foul history has been carefully expunged from even more of the historic archives and libraries. In 1225 B.C., the Pharaoh Merneptah, who, because of his victories in the Satanic Canaanite region, was known as "Binder of Gezer," set up a stele to commemorate his successes. Among the inscriptions placed thereon was this: "Plundered is the Satanic Canaan, with every evil; All lands are united and pacified."

This inscription did not mean that Merneptah had used every evil to plunder the Satanic Canaan; it meant that he had in his sojourn there encountered every evil practiced by this notorious tribe.

Ham had four sons; Cush, who founded the land of Ethiopia; Mizraim, who founded Egypt; Put, who founded Libya; and Satanic Canaan, who founded the land of the Satanic Canaanites, the area now in contention as the State of Israel. In the Aggidah. Cush is said to be black-skinned as punishment for Ham's having had intercourse on the Ark. "Three copulated on the Ark, and they were all punished-the dog, the raven, and Ham. The dog was doomed to be tied, the raven expectorates his seed into the mouth of his mate, and Ham was smitten in his skin. Note 9, San. 108b. i.e., from him descended Cush, the negro, who is black-skinned."

In talmudic literature, Cushi always means a black person or the negro race. Cushite is synonymous with black. (Yar Mo'ed Katan 16b).

The Bible as presently translated makes no reference to "Cush's color. Reference to his descendants, the Cushites, appears only in Numbers and in Samuel Book Two. Numbers 12:1 reveals that "Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Cushite woman he had married, for he had married a Cushite woman." Here again, no explanation is given as to why Miriam and Aaron turned against Moses, yet the matter is obviously of some importance, because the same verse emphasized by repetition that he had married a Cushite woman. We find the explanation by turning to the Talmud, which tells us that "Cushite" always means black. The verse in Numbers should read, and originally may have read, "Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the black or Cushite woman he had married." Second Samuel contains seven references to Cushites, but again no descriptions are given.

Prof. Sayee, the noted Egyptian scholar, and authority on the ancient Near and Middle East, explains that Satanic Canaan means "low," and Elam means "high." The Satanic Canaanites were those who inhabited the low places; the Elamites occupied the high ground. Col. Gamier, in his great work, "The Worship of the Dead," quotes Strabo's observation that "the Cushites inhabit the coastal regions of all Asia and Africa." They were never aggressive enough to fight for or remain on higher ground, and were forced to remain in the low, swampy areas, exposed to the elements, areas which other peoples would not contest them for.

Gamier continues, p. 78 of "The Worship of the Dead": "We have also seen that Osiris was black, or of the Cushite race, and this was characteristic of the Egyptians. Herodotus speaks of the Egyptians generally as black and woolly haired. There were two races in Egypt, the Mizraimites, who first colonized the country, and the black Egyptians, the latter receiving their name from Aegyptus, the son of Belus, i.e. Cush.

There can be little doubt, therefore, that Aegyptus, the father of the black Egyptians, and son of Belus, is the same as the black Osiris." On p. 92 Gamier informs us: "The Aryan immigration and Brahmanism were subsequent to that of a Cushite race more or less hostile to them and their religion. We find Aryan traditions speaking of themselves as white and the Dasyns as black, i.e. Cushite." Gamier quotes a description of the Cushites as follows: "They call them demons and devil-worshippers, and lascivious wretches who make a god of the Sisna, the Lingam, and the Phallus."

Gamier goes on (p. 131) to observe that "Buddha must be identified with those gods whose human origin was Cushite, from Cush, the great prophet and teacher of the ancient Paganism, the father of the black or Ethiopian race. Buddha, although the chief god of the yellow race, is constantly represented, as black with woolly hair and negro features, the flat noses and thick lips of many of the ancient statues which occur in Hindustan, for these are clearly the well-known features of the genuine African negro; the human origin of Buddha was Cush."

Ham's subsequent acts did nothing to clear his reputation. He stole the garments which God had made for Adam and Eve before He expelled them from the Garden of Eden. Cush inherited these garments from Ham and passed them on to his son, Satanic Nimrod. Because of these garments, Satanic Nimrod became known as "the mighty hunter." He was considered to be invincible as long as he wore these garments, which are recorded in Genesis 3:21. Animals and men cowered before the onslaught of Satanic Nimrod because of these garments, which conferred great powers upon him (Encyclopaedia Judaica). Satanic Nimrod, who was born on December 25th, the High Sabbath of Satanic Babylon, was the founder of Satanic Babylon and the city of Nineveh.

In the history of mankind, Satanic Nimrod stands unequalled for his symbolism of evil and Satanic practices. He is credited for having founded Freemasonry and for building the legendary Tower of Babel, in defiance of God's will. In talmudic literature, he is noted as "he who made all the people rebel against God." Pes. 94b. The legend of the Midrash recounts that when Satanic Nimrod was informed of Abraham's birth, he ordered all the male children killed, to be certain of eliminating him. Abraham was hidden in a cave, but in latter life he was discovered by Satanic Nimrod, who then ordered him to worship fire. Abraham refused and was thrown into the fire.

The legendary symbol for Satanic Nimrod is "X." The use of this symbol always denotes witchcraft. When "X" is used as a shortened form meaning Christmas, it actually means "to celebrate the feast of Satanic Nimrod." A double X, which has always meant to double-cross or betray, in its fundamental meaning indicates one's betrayal into the hands of Satan. When American corporations use the "X" in their logo, such as "Exxon," the historic Satanic Rockefeller firm of Standard Oil of New Jersey, there can be little doubt of this hidden meaning.

The importance of Satanic Nimrod in any study of the occult cannot be over-emphasized. Because of the powers given him by the clothing of Adam and Eve, Satanic Nimrod became the first man to rule the whole world. He indulged that power by launching excesses and horrors which have never been equaled.

Ever since the time of Satanic Nimrod, Satanic Babylon has been the symbol of depravity and lust. Satanic Nimrod also introduced the practice of genocide to the world. His grandfather, Ham, having consorted with other races, and brought children of mixed race into the world, was persuaded by his consort, the evil Naamah, to practice ritual murder and Satanic cannibalism.

She informed Ham that by killing and eating fair-skinned people, his descendants could regain their superior qualities. Throughout the ensuing centuries, the fair-skinned descendants of Shem, Noah's oldest son, have ritually been slaughtered by the darker descendants of Ham and Satanic Nimrod, in the world's most persistent campaign of racial and religious persecution.

Not only did Satanic Nimrod kill and eat the fair-skinned descendants of Shem, in his fury and hatred he often burned them alive. The type of Satanic human sacrifice involving the eating of the slaughtered human victims derived its name from the combined names of his uncle, Satanic Canaan, and the demon god Baal, the two names being combined to form the word "cannibal."

Satanic Nimrod was also known in ancient history by the names of Marduk, Bel, and Merodach. Because of his importance in its history, Satanic Babylon was known as the Land of Satanic Nimrod. Satanic Nimrod is also cited in the most ancient Masonic constitutions as the founder of Freemasonry.

Satanic Nimrod's downfall reputedly came about when he began to build the Tower of Babel, a ziggurat, or temple tower, which was planned to rise up into the heavens. Because of this offense against God, Shem, the eldest son of Noah, pronounced judgment against Satanic Nimrod, and executed him.

Josephus says that "Ham's black grandson, Satanic Nimrod, was beheaded by Shem." Other accounts add that Shem then cut Satanic Nimrod's body into pieces and sent the pieces to the pagan temples of Satanic Babylon, as a warning to the priests that their Satanic sex orgies and Satanic child sacrifices would result in a similar judgment of execution.

Instead of abandoning their hideous ceremonies because of this warning, the priests literally went underground. No longer did "their altars smoke with human blood," as Kitto, the great Palestinian authority, described them.

The priests took the pieces of Satanic Nimrod as relics to their secret meeting places, which were hidden in "groves" and "shrines." This was the origin of the secret Mystery cults, whose orgies could no longer be performed in public temples.

Because of the power of Shem, the priests from that time on conducted their forbidden orgies out of the light of day, in their secret hiding places. Their meetings were bounded with secret rites, which no one outside of their order was permitted to know, on pain of death.

This was the origin of the Gnostics, the Knowing Ones, who knew the secrets. It may be for this reason that Satanic Nimrod became known as the founder of Freemasonry, because its fundamental rites were established and invoked after he was killed, in order to carry on his work of evil.

The history of mankind for the past three thousand years has been the history of struggle between the fair-skinned descendants of Shem and the darker-skinned descendants of his brother, Ham, yet you will not find this struggle defined in any historical work.

The records of the genocide against the people of Shem are apparent throughout the archives of history, but there is not a school or university whose faculty will apprise its students of this simple fact. This in itself explains much which is usually dismissed as being "beyond explanation."

The reason for this odd development is that the descendants of Ham traditionally have usurped the educational process, through their earlier usurpation of the priesthood to carry on their Satanic work. They have controlled the educational system ever since, converting it to their own evil purposes.

It is of even greater interest that not a single school of theology anywhere in the world takes note of this central fact of history, a red thread which runs continuously through the record of events.

In the Greek language, Shem appears as Ehu; in Egyptian mythology, he is Shu, the son of Ra, the Sun God. It was through claimed descent from Shem that Louis, King of France, called himself the "Sun King." However, a much more important point, and one that has again been obscured or hidden by the priests who controlled the educational system throughout the last three thousand years, is the fact that it was Shem who founded and built the great civilization of Egypt.

The rulers of Egypt were called Pharaohs, from the Hebrew word pira, meaning "long hair." The native Egyptians were short-haired. Not only was Shem long-haired, he was also fair-haired. In their records, the priests call Shem "Shufu," or "Khufu," which means long hair.

Being a great warrior, Shem easily led his people in the conquest of the native Egyptians. He immediately set about to commemorate his reign by building the Great Pyramid at Gizeh. Satanic Babylon was then overcome by the son of Shem, Elam; a later descendant, Cyrus of Persia, an Elamite, completed the final conquest of Satanic Babylon and built the great Persian Empire.

It was to signify his great military successes that Shem adopted as his symbol the lion, which is still the symbol of rulers today. The Great Pyramid was later called Khiut, the Horizon, in which Khufu had been swallowed up, as the western horizon swallowed up the sun each evening. After extensive archaeological investigations, the Royal Astronomer of Scotland concluded that the evidence was irrefutable that the Great Pyramid at Gizeh had been built by Shem.

He found the name Shufu inside the pyramid, painted in red, which signified Shem's fair hair. Also inside the pyramid is an inscription placed there after the death of his descendant, Amenhotep IV, "He stopped the barbaric practices of the priests which had been introduced by Naamah and her followers from Satanic Babylon, including Satanic Nimrod."

The priests murdered Amenhotep IV, so that they could resume their orgies of lust and Satanic child sacrifices.

They had admitted to Herodotus that the Great Pyramid had been built by "a wandering shepherd," an odd observation, as shepherds do not usually create such grandiose monuments to themselves. However, this was one of the terms of derision by which they always referred to Shem after his death.

Other inscriptions by the priests throughout centuries of Egyptian history revile Shem as "pig," "dwarf," and other terms signifying their hatred of him, possibly because he slew their mentor, Satanic Nimrod. In the same areas, other inscriptions extol the degenerate Ham, who had been corrupted by his consort, the evil Naamah, and introduced to the practices of Satanic human sacrifice and Satanic cannibalism.

Egyptian civilization reached its peak during the reign of Shem. The Sphinx is now admitted to be a portrait of him. After his death, the priests not only resumed their evil practices, but they embarked on a successful campaign to black out his name from recorded history, a campaign which has largely succeeded during the ensuing three thousand years.

They also launched terrible punitive actions against Shem's fair-haired descendants, often murdering them, or burning them alive. Not only did the priests falsify the records of Shem, but they also succeeded in eliminating most of the subsequent history of his fair-skinned descendants, the Shemites, or, as they are sometimes called, the Semites.

The Arab scholar Murtadi noted that Num and Khufu (Shufu), the builders of the Pyramids, lived with Noah. (British Museum Catalog, 1909). Shem was also referred to by the name of Menes, from the Hebrew Meni, or man, which appears in the Egyptian Book of the Dead, referring to Uranus and his three sons, an obvious reference to Noah. Ham later became known as the Egyptian God Amon.

Herodotus writes that the first king of Egypt, who reigned until 2320 B.C. Eusebius says that three hundred successive sovereigns descended from him, the Thinite Kings, who had succeeded the demigods. The historian Murtado referred to Shem as Menes. As the most able son of Noah, Shem exemplifies the qualities upon which all subsequent civilizations have been built; courage, the desire to build, and the willingness to subdue those who have adopted a lower form of life.

He is the Adamite who created civilizations as we have known it. On the other hand, the descendants of Ham, the Satanic Canaanites, exemplify the Satanic urge to destroy civilization and the rebellion against God. J. Hewlitt points out that Adamite meant a "thinker," and mena or man produced Menes, the thinking man. This survives today in the intellectual society, Mensa. The distinction was made to distinguish the lineage of Adam from the pre- Adamites, or non-thinking men. (Ruling Races of Prehistoric Man, v. 2 p. 364). The Jewish Encyclopaedia says that Shem became king of Jerusalem as the representative of YHWH, so that he could continue the battle against the slave people, the Satanic Canaanites.

In Genesis, we find this verse: "Bless be the Lord, the God of Shem! " Genesis 9:26. Shem had five sons: Elam, from whom came the Persian Empire; Asshur, from whom came the Assyrian Empire; Arpachshad, Lud, and Aram.

So great was the reverence for the name of Shem in the ancient world that his name in many records became synonymous with YHWH. Yahweh, or, in a later version, Jehovah, derives directly from the Hebrew verb Hava (h), meaning, "I am."

Historically, this was read as the older Khufu, or HFWF, instead of YHWH, and thus it refers to Kufu, or Shem, the builder of the Great Pyramid. It was because of the persecutions of the fair-skinned peoples by the priests that Khufu, which phonetically is almost identical with the Hebrew Hava (h), became YHWH, the God of the Exodus from Egypt.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica notes of "Jehovah," "The pronunciation '1' is an error resulting among Christians combining the consonants YHWH with the vowels of 'adonay' Lord, (Adonis) which was substituted by the Jews for the sacred name YHWH, commonly called the tetragrammaton, or four consonants. The name 'Jehovah' first appears in the manuscript of Martin's Poggio in the fourteenth century." Thus the name of Jehovah, which is commonly used in our churches, is only five hundred years old!

In order to understand why the name of Shem was systematically reviled and concealed throughout the records of history, we must return to the record of his thoroughly degenerate and evil nephew, Satanic Canaan. Satanic Canaan was so wicked that his last will and testament to his children was a formula for vice.

It read, "Love one another (that is, of this tribe only), love robbery, love lewdness, hate your masters, and do not speak the truth." This remarkable document, the Will of Satanic Canaan, is to be found in only one place in all the world's theological literature, the Satanic Babylonian Talmud, where it is presented thusly, "Five things did Satanic Canaan charge his sons: love one another, love robbery, love lewdness, hate your masters, and do not speak the truth." Pes. 113b.

The Will of Satanic Canaan has been the Satanic Canaanites prescription for all of their operations during the ensuing three thousand years. Meanwhile, the people of Shem, knowing nothing of this document, vainly tried to "convert" the Satanic Canaanites, and turn them from their evil ways. If the descendants of Shem had been warned of the precepts imparted by this document, the history of the last three thousand years could have been very different.

The Will of Satanic Canaan today remains the operating instructions of the Satanic Canaanite heirs, who presently control the World Order. At the same time, it remains unknown to the peoples whom the Satanic Canaanites continue to rob, enslave, and massacre. The Will of Satanic Canaan contains the instructions necessary to resist the results of the Curse of Satanic Canaan, which condemn them to slavery. The instructions to "hate your masters," that is, Shem and Japheth and their descendants, is a command to commit genocide against the people of Shem. For this reason, all subsequent Satanic Canaanite rites are based upon these exhortations to struggle and commit acts of violence against the people of Shem. It is not only the basis for all of the revolutions and "liberation movements" since that time, it is also a basic incitement to commit genocide and to continue racial wars. Because of the three-thousand-year historical blackout, the people of Shem have never understood their peril, and they have frequently been subject to massacre because their essential goodness made it impossible for them to believe the vileness of the Satanic Canaanites. The Will of Satanic Canaan has always been concealed from them because it is the basic program of conspiracy and secret rites which enable the Satanic Canaanites to wreak their hatred upon the descendants of Shem.

Much of the continuous hostility between these two forces is mentioned in the Bible, but never in the basic form which has been stated here for the first time. In his book, "The Mystery of the Ages," Herbert Armstrong comments, "Satanic Canaanites, who were racially dark, had settled the land; 16

God commands the Israelites to drive them out" (p. 172). Armstrong cites Numbers 33 as the basis for his reference.

During the centuries of oppression and mass murder, God has not stood aside from His people. On the contrary, He has frequently exhorted them to attack and to rid themselves of the peril of the Satanic Canaanites. In the early years of this struggle, it was still possible for His children to hear and to obey. The vision of Obadiah is recounted in Obadiah 20, "And the capacity of this- host of the children of Israel, shall possess that of the Satanic Canaanites, even unto Zarephath; and this capacity of Israel which is in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the south." Significantly, the Revised Standard Version omits the mention of the Satanic Canaanites entirely.

The battle continued over a period of centuries. In Joshua 17:13, we read "Yet it came to pass, when the children of Israel were waxen strong, that they put the Satanic Canaanites to tribute but did not utterly drive them out."

God expressed His will in the strongest terms to His children in Numbers 33:52-56: "Ye shall drive out all inhabitants of the land [Satanic Canaan] before you ... And ye shall dispossess the inhabitants of the land, and dwell therein: for I have given you the land to possess it ... But if ye will not drive out the inhabitants of the land before you; then it shall come to pass, that those who ye let remain, of them shall be pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your sides, and shall vex you in the land wherein ye dwell .... It shall come to pass, that I shall do unto you, as I thought to do unto them."

The children of Israel, that is, the descendants of Shem, obeyed God, and did war against the Satanic Canaanites, but in later generations, they lost sign of this goal, permitting the Satanic Canaanites to live with them. During this period of history, there were great victories against their historic enemy, as recounted in Judges 1:17: "And Judah went with Simeon, his brother, and they slew the Satanic Canaanites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly destroyed it."

This victory came about because the children of Israel were distraught, and they sought guidance from the Lord. Judges 1:1-5: "Now after the death of Joshua it came to pass that the children of Israel asked the Lord, saying, 'Who shall go up for us against the Satanic Canaanites first to fight against them?' And the Lord said, 'Judah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hands.' And Judah said unto Simeon his brother, 'Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Satanic Canaanites' .... And Judah went up; and the Lord delivered the Satanic Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand.... and they slew the Satanic Canaanites and the Perizzites. "

Later, the victors again fell into the evil practices of those whom they had conquered, and again they were punished by the Lord. Judges 4: 1-2: "The children of Israel dwelt among the Satanic Canaanites. And the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord sold them into the hands of Jabin, king of the Satanic Canaanites." A later verse in Judges notes that the Israelites prevailed against Jabin and destroyed him and the Satanic Canaanites.

Exodus 15:15 says, "Then shall the dukes of Edom be amazed; the mighty sons of Moab, 17 trembling shall take hold of them: all the inhabitants of Satanic Canaan shall melt away.'

Nelson's Concordance lists more than eighty-five Biblical verses referring to the Satanic Canaanites. Most of the references are unfavorable, and invariably they reveal God's determination to punish his people for their misdeeds. Ezekiel 16: 1-3: "Again the words of the Lord came to me: 'Son of man, make known to Jerusalem her abominations .... Your origin and your birth are of the land of Satanic Canaan.' " Considering the frequency of references to Satanic Canaanites in the Bible, it is surprising that religious leaders rarely make any mention of them. In fact, many of the wealthier religious leaders today are actively in league with the Satanic Canaanites, enabling them to garner millions of dollars in contributions from gullible Christians.

Certainly the barbaric practices of the Satanic Canaanites were never secret, nor were they unknown in ancient times, as evidenced by the number of references available. Psalms 106:37-38: "They sacrificed their sons and daughters to the demon; they poured out innocent blood, the blood of their sons and daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols of Satanic Canaan." Because of this well-documented record of their fiendish practices, God issued numerous orders that other tribes should not intermarry with this people. Isaac passed on one of these orders to Jacob. Genesis 28: 1 : "Isaac called Jacob and blessed him, and charged him, 'You shall not marry one of the Satanic Canaanite women.' " We have previously noted that Miriam and Jacob turned against Moses for marrying a Cushite, or black. The men of old were aware of the necessity to protect their genetic heritage, and they were equally aware that it could vanish in a single generation, if the wrong marriages took place.

The prohibition against mingling with the demon-worshipping Satanic Canaanites remained one of God's strongest commands. God said, "So shall we be separated, I and all of Thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth" (Exodus 3:16).

God characterized the Satanic Canaanites thusly: "And I will make them a terror and an evil for all the kingdoms of the earth [referring to the Diaspora-Ed.], as a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curse on all places where I shall scatter them" (Jeremiah 24:9).

Thus we see the Satanic Canaanites, newly named the Satanic Phoenicians, dispersing along all of the trade routes and avenues of commerce throughout the earth. As God prophesied, they spread corruption, terror, and devastation wherever He scattered them. Later known as the Satanic Venetians, they dominated the avenues of commerce; when they settled inland, they specialized as merchants, and later, as bankers, at last comprising a group now loosely known as "the Satanic Black Nobility," which holds seemingly irresistible power today.

God further warned His people against the dispersed Caanites. Deuteronomy 7:2-5: "... thou shalt smite them, lilt! utterly destroy them; thou shalt make no covenant with I him [such as the League of Nations or the United Nations- Ed.] nor shew mercy unto them. Neither shalt thou make marriage with them: thy daughter thou shalt not give unto his son, nor his daughter shalt thou take unto thy son. For they will turn away thy son from following me, that they may serve other gods; so will the anger of the Lord be kindled against you, and destroy thee suddenly. But thus shall ye deal with them; ye shall destroy their altars, and break down their images, and cut down their groves, and burn their graven images with fire.

This was a direct command to destroy the groves and shrines of the demon-worshipping Mystery cults, now known as Freemasonry. The prohibition against "graven images" has been misunderstood by many well-meaning Christians. God did not prohibit graven images "He prohibited the obscene images of the Baal and Ashtoreth cults, which were made to create sexual excitement as part of their obscene rites. The battle against obscenity goes on today, although it often seems that American Christians are losing it.

In making these demands (they were not requests), God was not offering a program for a school picnic; He was laying out the only program which would allow His people to survive on this earth. Otherwise, He warned, "And a mongrel race will dwell in Ashdod" (Zechariah 9:6).

Should His people fail to carry out His instructions, God specifically described what would happen, and in so doing, He accurately described the world of today.

"But it shall come to pass, if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to observe and to do all His commandments and His statutes which I command thee this day, that all these curses shall come upon thee and overtake thee: .... The stranger that is within thy gates [the Satanic Canaanites or their descendants-Ed.] shall get up above thee very high, and thou shalt come down very low. He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him; he shall be the head and thou shalt be the tail" (Deuteronomy 28: 15, 43-44).

Certainly this is the situation which exists in the United States today. The Satanic Venetians control the Federal Reserve System; they lend to us, but we do not lend to them; they are the head, and we are the tail.

Having become Satan's curse on humanity, the Satanic Canaanites now spread across the earth like some evil plague. Genesis 10:18: "The families of the Satanic Canaanites were spread abroad." This diaspora brought troubles to every nation in which this people landed. Ezekiel 16:3, 45, and 46 lists the racial tribes of the Satanic Canaanites, denouncing them individually, "thy father an Amorite, their mother a Hittite, their older sister Samaria, their younger sister Sodom." Jesus, the minister of compassion, when he was asked to cure a Satanic Canaanite, denounced them as dogs. Matthew 15:22: "And, behold, a Satanic Canaanite woman from that region came out and cried, 'Have mercy on me, o Lord, son of David; my daughter is severely possessed by a demon.' But He did not answer her a word." At last He did answer her, verse 26, "And He answered, 'It is not fair to take the children's bread and throw it to the dogs.'" By children, He meant the children of Israel, and that the Satanic Canaanites were dogs. She persisted and he finally did heal her daughter.

The Satanic Canaanite political parties were the Pharisees, Sadducees, Zealots, Essains, Assassins, Herodians, and Scribes. A later group, the Edomites, descended from Esau and later intermarried with the Turks, producing a Turco-Edomite mixture which later became known as the Chazars, the present occupants of Israel, according to the great Jewish scholar, Arthur Koestler.

The Satanic Canaanites were divided into the Amorites, Hittites, Moabites, Midianites, Philistines, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, Sepharvaims, Perizzites, and affiliated tribes, all of which are routinely denounced in the Bible. Genesis 3:17: "The Perizzites are the enemies of God; the Ammonites worshipped Moloch Chemos and were demon -possessed." The Ashodites worshipped the fish and god, Dagon-they were robbers and hated God (as recorded in the British Museum "Ed.).

The Egyptians were known as worshippers of black magic, which resulted in God's rebuff to Hagar. The Amorites were cursed by God (Ezra 9: 1). Hittite was defined as meaning to destroy or to terrify; Perizzite came to stand for strife and disorder; the Sepharvaim (later Sephardim) were revolutionaries; Jebusite stands for trampling underfoot.

In his monumental work, "The History of the Jews," Joseph Kastein writes, p. 19, "The Satanic Canaanitish cults were closely connected with the soil and expressive of the forces of nature, particularly the force of fertilization .... This force or divinity, was called Baal .... Whenever any question arose Involving their existence as a nation, they knew only one God, and recognized but one idea- the theocracy."

Thus Kastein admits that the Satanic Canaanites were fertility cults, but he does not explain that the worship of Baal as a god of fertility, with the obscene rites of his queen, Ashtoreth, was so abominated in the ancient world that whenever Baal was used in this context, in referring to proper names, the suffix for Baal was "bosheth," or shameful; thus we get the names Ishbosheth, Mephibosheth, etc.

The destructive nature of the Satanic Canaanites upon other nations in which they settled is nowhere more strongly demonstrated than in Egypt, the first land to be corrupted by their barbaric practices. Originally, "Baal" simply meant Lord in the Satanic Canaanite language. The obscenity of the rites soon developed a popular image of Baal which had three heads, the head of a cat, the head of a man, and the head of a toad. His wife, Ashtoreth, also known as Astarte and Ishtar, was the principal goddess of the Satanic Canaanites. She also represented the reproductive principle in nature, and in case anyone might overlook it, all of her rites were sexual observances.

In Satanic Babylon, the temples of Baal and Ashtoreth were usually together. Mainly, they served as houses of prostitution, in which the priestesses were prostitutes, and the male priests were Sodomites who were available for the worshippers who were of that persuasion. The worship of the Satanic Canaanite gods consisted of orgies, and all their temples were known as centers of vice. They also originated voodoo ceremonies, which became the rites of observance in Ethiopia through the Ethiopian Jethro, the tutor of Moses. These same rites now enthrall tourists in the Caribbean.

It was not long before the simple ceremonies of vice began to pall on the worshippers of Baal. They sought greater excitement in rites of Satanic human sacrifice and Satanic cannibalism, in which the torture and murder of small children were featured. To consolidate their power over the people, the priests of the Satanic Canaanites claimed that all firstborn children were owed to their demon gods, and they were given over for sacrifice. This lewd and barbaric practice was noted in Isaiah 57:3-5: "But you, draw near hither, sons of the sorceress, offspring of the adulterer and the harlot. Of whom 'are you making sport? Against whom make ye a wide mouth, and draw out the tongue? Are ye not children of transgression, a seed of falsehood? Inflaming yourself with idols under every green tree, slaying the children in the valleys under the cleft of the rocks?"

Thus Isaiah inveighed not only against the obscene expressions of the blood-maddened orgiasts, their salacious grimaces, but also their now well-established custom of practicing their horrible rites in "groves" and "shrines," where they could murder children without being seen and punished by the descendants of Shem.

King Solomon came under the influence of the child-murderers, and he rebuilt an altar to Milcom (Molech, from the Hebrew melekh, meaning king). I Kings 11:5-8. Molech, or Moloch, was honored by his worshippers by the building of a great fire on his altar. The parents were then forced by the priests to throw their children into the fire. In excavations at Gezer (the Pharaoh Merneptah had called himself the Binder of Gezer after he put a stop to the obscene rites of the Satanic Canaanites at Gezer) Macalister, under the auspices of the Palestine Exploration Fund, from 1904 to 1909, found in the Satanic Canaanite stratum of about 1500 B.C., the ruins of a "High Place," a temple to Ashtoreth, containing ten crude stone pillars, five to eleven feet high, before which Satanic human sacrifices were offered. Under the debris in this "High Place," Macalister found great numbers of jars containing the remains of children who had been sacrificed to Baal. "Another horrible practice was what they called 'foundation sacrifice.' When a house was to be build, a child would be sacrificed and its body built into the wall, to bring good luck to the rest of the family. Many of these were found in Gezer. They have been found also at Megiddo, Jericho, and other places." (Halley's Bible Handbook)

Halley's also notes that in this "High Place," Macalister found large piles of images and plaques of Ashtoreth with rudely exaggerated sex organs, designed to stimulate sexual acts. Ashtoreth images found in many areas of the Satanic Canaanite influence emphasize over-sized breasts, sensuous smiles, heavily accented eyes, and nudity. The demonic nature of this sex worship is traced directly to Ham's intercourse with the witch Naamah on the Ark. Col. Gamier, in his "Worship of the Dead," writes, "Naamah was celebrated for her beauty, talent, energy, lustfulness, and cruelty, and she was of Nephilim (fallen angel) parentage."

The Encyclopaedia Judaica describes the Satanic Canaanite Satanic Demonology as featuring Lilith, the vampire; Reseph, the god of the plague; Dever, god of pestilence; and the god of the underworld, Mot, from mavet, the Hebrew word for death.

Despite their prominence as destructive influences in the ancient world, the Satanic Canaanites and their demon-god Baal seldom appear in the authoritative works on the ancient Near East. Gaston Maspero's great history of Egypt, "The Dawn of Civilization," published in 1894, and republished in 1968, does not mention either Baal or Satanic Canaan. H. R. Hall's "Ancient History of the Near East" does not mention Shem or Satanic Canaan in the index. Baal has a single mention. How much of this is due to the deliberate falsification and destruction of historical records by the Egyptian priesthood cannot be ascertained, but the results are obvious. Another contributing factor is the sudden disappearance of the names 'Satanic Canaan' and "Satanic Canaanites" from all historical records after 1200 B.C. How did this come about? It was very simple. They merely changed their name.

Chambers Encyclopaedia notes that "After 1200 B.C. the name of Satanic Canaanites vanished from history. They changed their name to Satanic Phoenician." Thus the most notorious and most hated people on earth received a new lease on life. The barbaric Satanic Canaanites had disappeared.

The more civilized Satanic Phoenicians, seemingly harmless merchant folk, took their place. Having obtained a monopoly on purple dye, which was highly prized throughout the ancient world, the Satanic Canaanites advertised their control over this product by calling themselves Satanic Phoenicians, from Phoenicia (phoenikiea), the Greek word for purple.

From the outset of their history, the Satanic Phoenician Canaanites always managed to get a monopoly on some essential product. They later had a monopoly on tin for some centuries, until the Greeks discovered tin in Cornwall in 233 B.C. Joseph of Arimathea, the uncle of Jesus, was said to have owned large tin mines in Cornwall.

The change of name did not mean that the Satanic Canaanites had abandoned their worship of Baal and Ashtoreth. They became more prudent in their worship of Baal, and in the colonies which they established along the length of the Mediterranean, they built their temples to the female of the species, Ashtoreth.

In the Egyptian city of Memphis, the Satanic Phoenician Temple of Ashotoreth was the largest religious edifice. She was known there as the wife of the supreme god, El, and his seventy deities. In their rituals, Ashtoreth was sometimes worshipped as the male demon, Astaroth, who survived in European rites as Astaro or Ostara. In this form, he became the patron god of the Nazi movement in Germany.

The westernmost outpost of the Satanic Phoenicians was Cadiz, a Satanic Phoenician colony which derived its name from the Semitic gadir, or fortress. Their most important colony, which soon became a rival to Rome itself, was Carthage, which they established about 900 B.C. The name derived from Hebrew, Kart-hadshat, or new city.

The Satanic Phoenicians often named their cities with the prefix of "new." During the fifth century, the Carthaginians had fought the Greeks and survived, but in 264 B.C. Rome attacked in full force. A series of wars ensued, called the Punic Wars, because the Carthaginians called themselves the Punics. St. Augustine noted that the Punics among themselves referred to their people as the "Chanani," or Satanic Canaanites, but this name was like a secret code; they never used it in dealing with other people.

Whether for purely commercial reasons, or because they feared a military power astride their avenues of commerce in the Mediterranean, the Romans determined to utterly destroy Carthage. They succeeded in this resolve so absolutely that present-day archaeologists are not sure just where Carthage was located. From 264 to 201 B.C., Rome waged three Punic Wars against Carthage, culminating in the defeat of their leader, Hannibal, by the Roman armies under the command of Scipio Africanus. The Romans killed or took into slavery every Carthaginian and razed the city. They completed their task by sowing the land with salt, so that nothing would ever flourish there again. Nothing ever did.

This defeat, although a major setback, did not destroy the world operations of the Satanic Canaanites, but it did inculcate in them a fierce hatred of all things Roman, which ever since has been characterized by the Satanic Canaanite school of propaganda as "fascism," from the Roman rods, or fasces, which were carried by the magistrate to symbolize his determination to maintain order.

The later Masonic assault upon the Catholic Church was largely dictated by the fact that it was headquartered in the city of their most ancient enemy, Rome, and therefore the papacy became to the Satanic Phoenicians the modern embodiment of the force which had destroyed their most important headquarters. Few Americans realize that when the New School of Research in New York denounces "fascism," joined by the columnists of the New York Times and the New York Post, they are merely echoing their ancient anger over the destruction of Carthage.

Here again, our historians have only one goal, to obscure the past and to prevent us from realizing the nature of the forces at work.

It was not only the Satanic Canaanites who spread across the earth. The descendants of Shem also multiplied and journeyed to find greater opportunities for their families. They moved from country to country, founding great kingdoms and dynasties, which have survived to the present day.

There are many people who can agree that the kings and leaders of the Western nations are descended from the tribe of Judah, but they fail to recognize an important fact, which is entirely omitted in the King James version of the Bible, that there were three branches of the tribe of Judah. Those who lump all the descendants of the tribe of Judah together do not realize that there was a tainted branch. There were the families of Pharez and Zarah, Judah's pure bred sons out of Tamar, and there was a third branch, Judah's descendants from a Satanic Canaanite mother, Shuah, who were known ever afterwards as "the cursed Shelanites." Tamar was the daughter of Aram, the youngest son of Shem. Shuah called Tamar's sons bastards because they had been born out of wedlock, while the twins claimed to be the rightful heirs of Judah because they were of pure-blooded stock, the Adamite strain. From the Shelanites descended thirty-one cursed tribes of Satanic Canaanites of Judea and Samaria, including the Sepharvaims, a name which the Satanic Canaanites had adopted for deceptive purposes.

At the birth of Pharez and Zarah, the midwife, seeing that there were twins in the womb, realized that it would be necessary to mark the firstborn, who would have primogeniture. She quickly wrapped a red thread around the wrist of Zarah, but it was Pharez who came out first from "the breach." The Messiah was descended from Pharez, and he was said to have been sent by God to heal "the breach" which had existed since the birth of Pharez and Zarah.

Tamar, mother of Pharez and Zarah, had a descendant named Tamar Tephi, known in Irish legend as "the daughter of Pharaoh." She married Eochaidh, king of Ireland, who was known as the Prince of the Scarlet Thread. Thus the two lines of Pharez and Zarah were again reunited. The Scarlet Thread subsequently became an integral part of British history. A red thread is symbolically woven into every rope which is used by the Royal Navy; and every British monarch has delivered to him official documents which are wrapped with a red cord. The term also survives in "red tape," that is, the official red cord which must be unwound before any state business is transacted. There is also the red carpet which tradition required to be unrolled before royalty walks in.

Before he would give Tamar in marriage, Heremon, the father of Tamar, demanded that serpent worship and the rites of Bel, which were then practiced in Ireland, be renounced. The serpents then disappeared from Ireland, and there are no poisonous serpents there today. A later legend is that St. Patrick expelled the serpents from Ireland. Both legends call attention to the demonic practices of the Satanic Canaanites, as well as their descent from the serpent; its banishment established Ireland as a land of the true religion of YHWH, or the descendants of Shem. The disappearance of the serpents also signified that the evil powers of the Satanic Canaanites had vanished from Ireland.

Both Spain and Ireland show their direct connection to the descendants of Shem in their names. Spain occupies the Iberian Peninsula, from Iber, or Hebrew; Ireland is known as Hibernia, the land of the Hebrews, as are the Hebrides Islands. In his History of Ireland, Roger Chauvire says that Ireland is the last remaining part of Atlantis which is still above the surface of the sea. In his History of Ireland, A. M. Sullivan writes of the legendary origin of the present Irish race.

"The Milesian colony reached Ireland from Spain, but they were not Spanish. They were an eastern people who had tarried in that country on their way westward, seeking, they aid, an island promised to the posterity of their ancestor Gadelius. Gadelius was the son of Niul, who was the youngest son of the King of Scythia. As a child, Gadelius had been bitten by a poisonous serpent. He was near death when his father persuaded Moses to use his rod to cure him. From that day, the Milesians carried westward their banner, which was emblazoned with a dead serpent and the rod of Moses, until they found an island which had no poisonous snakes."

The sons of Milesius, Gadelius' descendants, who sailed from Spain to Ireland were Heber the Fair, Amergin, Colpa, Heber the Brown, Ir, and Heremon. Their descendants ruled Ireland for one thousand years, the dynasty being established by Niall (Niul), who ruled at Tara from 31 to 405. He is described by Sullivan as "a splendid hero of the Gaelic blood, tall, fair-haired and blue-eyed, a great and noble-minded warrior, 'kind in hall and fierce in fray'; from him descended the kings of Ireland, the Neills."

These conquerors of Ireland, the Milesians, derived their name from Milesius, the soldier (from the Latin miles, from which we get the word militia). Gadelius, the founder of the line, derived his name from the Hebrew "gadil," meaning to become great, or in plural the exalted, the fortune-seekers, or the fortunate ones. Because of their great pride and their natural abilities, the Irish were later referred to as being from "the Land of Kings." Of almost any Irishman, it could be boastfully said, "Sure, and he's the descendant of kings."

From earliest records, the Irish and the Britons are shown to be historic enemies. Apuleius wrote in 296 A.D. of the "two races, the Britons and Ibernia." Eumenius always wrote of Hibernia as the enemy of Briton. Caesar's Notes on the Gallic Wars, 58-50 B.C., wrote of "Hibernia, west of Britain."

The world was now swept by two diametrically opposed tides of history. On the one hand were the highly creative and productive descendants of Shem, who have since become known as Semites, and on the opposing side were the "cursed Satanic Canaanites," who historically were the anti-Semites, the foes of the tall, fair-haired, and blue eyed descendants of Shem.

Because the Semites were always known as great warriors, they handily defeated the Satanic Canaanites in every military encounter, and in many cases obeyed God's command to drive them out and to destroy them utterly. But the anti Semites seemed to have great staying power; when driven out of one country, they appeared in another to continue their same type of corruption and betrayal.

While the Semites were busily establishing one great empire after another, Asshur's building the Assyrian Empire, Cyrus the Great building the Persian Empire, and Shem himself creating the great Egyptian civilization, the anti-Semites were developing their own talents. These included a talent for trade and commerce, for travel, for making themselves at home in any country, and among any race of people.

Generally they established their trading colonies along the seacoasts, for they lacked the courage to venture into the great wildernesses of Europe, where the Semites always made themselves at home. The Satanic Canaanites always remained true to the precepts of the Will of Satanic Canaan; they were true to each other, regardless of the circumstances; they were constant in their love of robbery, their love of lewdness, and their hatred of the masters, that is, anyone who tried to interfere with their corrupt way of life. And they always refused to tell the truth. By remaining loyal to these unchanged precepts, the anti-Semites had at their disposal vital weapons for their war against the people of Shem.

The Shemites, on the other hand, being fiercely individualistic, never hesitated to pit their empires against each other, or even family against family, their overweening pride always taking precedence before any racial or historical imperative.

During the Middle Ages, the people of Shem found their typical characteristics best expressed in such organizations as the Teutonic Knights, a group of warriors which was invincible for hundreds of years. At the same time, the anti-Semites were busily expanding trade routes, and amassing their profits from trade (to this day, the British aristocracy professes disdain for anyone who sullies his hands with trade, an ancient prejudice against the Satanic Canaanites); with these profits, they eventually became bankers to the world. In pursuing this objective, they found a great opportunity during the Crusades.

Not only did the Crusades open up trade routes throughout the known world, but they also opened up new avenues of graft and corruption, which allowed the Satanic Canaanites to amass even greater profits. When the Christian knights departed for the Crusades, dedicating themselves to the service of Christ, the Satanic Canaanites, who prudently remained at home, now perfected various schemes to rob the knights of their money and property while they were away.

In "Ancient Knighthood and the Crusades," we find that some of the crusaders "found shelter and protection at the hands of the Teutonic Knights, who were engaged in looking up the frauds perpetrated by the rapacious monks and clergy, who had forged title deeds and mortgages upon lands and property of absent Crusaders or those who had fallen in defense of the Cross in the Holy Land .... time for reflection and study of the causes of the Crusades at home and abroad, when, other than the scum of Europe which settled upon its dregs, the best people had been almost entirely obliterated from the face of the continent.

The rapacity of the popes and clergy down to the lowest monks was appalling to those self-sacrificing, stalwart warriors of the Cross, who had returned and found utter strangers in the places and homes of their kindred, and upon investigation it was discovered that frauds, forgeries of title deeds, and confiscations under pretexts of heresy had despoiled their kindred, and the meagre few who had survived were beggars upon the highway and lanes, perishing as tramps by the wayside."

The Knights of the Teutonic Order built the city of Riga in Latvia in 1201; they conquered Estonia in 1220; they conquered Prussia in 1293, establishing a military tradition there which ended only after World War II. Although they were disbanded in 1809, the Teutonic Knights remained the inspiration of the German military establishment, which guided Germany through two World Wars.

It was Hitler himself who wrote "finis" to their proud traditions, when he concluded the Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact in 1939. Not only did this pact cede the nations of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, the ancient strongholds of the Teutonic Order, to the Communists or Satanic Canaanites, but subsequently, all of the great estates of the last heirs of the Prussian tradition, the last survivors of the Teutonic Order, fell into the hands of the onrushing Soviet hordes.

By this time, the reader must be thoroughly confused. The "Semites" are really the "anti- Semites" or Satanic Canaanites, the heirs of the Curse of Satanic Canaan, whose corrupt acts are dictated by the Will of Satanic Canaan; the true Semites are the fair-haired warriors who built one great civilization after another- then how do we recognize these various forces in today's world? "By their deeds ye shall know them."

Those who are engaged in murderous conspiracies, those whose only loyalty is to secret international organizations, those who promote the use of drugs, bizarre sexual practices, and criminal undertakings, in short, those who continue the rebellion against God, these are the Satanic Canaanites, the anti-Semites.

Those who remain true to Christ are the Semites. Despite great calamities and the sweep of powerful historical forces, the genetic pools of the original people of Shem, as well as those of the Satanic Canaanites, remain fairly consistent.

How do we recognize the one group from the other? You should have no problem in looking about you and deciding who are the true descendants of Shem, often fair-haired, fair-skinned, predominantly blue-eyed, healthy, creative, productive, proud, disdaining to engage in any dishonest activity, and always fiercely individualistic, these are the people who remain true to the tradition of the people of Shem.

The Satanic Canaanites, on the other hand, are generally shorter, darker, more furtive, and almost always engaged in some type of criminal activity, usually with special government approval or license.

Roget equates license with "anarchy, interregnum, mob rule, mob law, lynch law, nihilism, reign of violence," in other words, the acts of the Satanic Canaanites; yet in the United States today, we have imposed on the citizens requirements for license to do any of the things free men would not be licensed to do; to drive or own a car, to engage in a profession, and many other intrusions into the individuality of the people of Shem. "License," which does not appear in the Constitution written by and for the people of Shem, means setting up requirements that only the Satanic Canaanites can meet, or license which only the secret clubs of the Satanic Canaanites will grant to their own; no others need apply.

This is the cohesiveness required by the Will of Satanic Canaan in everything they do, socialistic and communistic, the individual submerged in the mass, and committed to conspiratorial social and business practices.

They are also frequently involved in some sort of extracurricular sexual activity which can be traced directly back to the orgies of Baal, Satanic human sacrifice, and obscene sexual rites. At the same time, these "anti-Semites" will go to great lengths to conceal their true identity and their real loyalties. In their communities, they are often found to be leaders in activities advertised as "compassionate" and "caring"; they are often to be found in government offices, in the media, and in the educational institutions.

In these areas, they ruthlessly promote the interests of their own kind, while presenting a solid phalanx of opposition to any one of the individualistic descendants of Shem who enter these professions. The great asset of the Satanic Canaanites is that the people of Shem have no idea what is going on; they rarely find success in a profession despite their great natural talents and appetite for hard work. Throughout their careers, they are oppressed by the realization that "luck" never seems to favor them while others find promotion almost automatic, if they are members of their rivals, the Satanic Canaanites.

Now time grows short. History will not allow the people of Shem additional centuries, or even decades, to come to their senses and realize what is going on. Just as they have been victims of massacre and genocide for centuries, the people of Shem now face the determination of the Satanic Canaanites to exterminate them utterly and finally, a goal which they hope to achieve by the end of this millenium.

Chapter 2 The Transgression of Cain

"Not as Cain, who was of the evil one, and killed his brother. And wherefore did he kill him? Because his own works were wicked, and his brother's just" (I John 3:12).

The transgression of Cain, the first murderer, is of remarkable significance in tracing the development of occult organizations in history. The Hebrew word for Cain is Kajin, from Koon, to chant, and from which we derive the slang terms for persons of mixed race, Kajuns and coons. From Cain descended Tubal Cain, whose name is used as the secret password of Freemasonry. Tubal Cain was the son of Lamech, and brother to Noah, but he was born of a bigamous marriage. Tubal Cain became a blacksmith, and he later became renowned as the father of witchcraft and sorcery. His father, Lamech, was the son of Methuselah, of the line of Cain.

We might suppose that the two sons of Adam, Cain and Abel, having the whole world before them, would have little cause for discord, but Cain, being of the Evil One, sought a quarrel with his brother. The Bible recounts that they made offerings to God, and that God accepted the offering from Abel, but rejected the offering of Cain because he was unworthy, that is, he was of the serpent. Cain, overcome by wrath and jealousy, then slew Abel. The midrash gives a somewhat more extended version, that Cain persuaded Abel that they should divide the world between them. Cain would get all the land, and Abel would have all the chattels thereon.

Cain then informed Abel that he was standing on his land, and that he should remove himself. Abel retorted that Cain was wearing clothes of animal skins, which belonged to Abel. They fought, and Cain slew Abel.

God then banished Cain "eastward of Eden," in "the land of Nod." He wedded a woman of pre-Adamite stock, and thus compounded his fault. Genesis 4:17 says, "Cain knew [that is, had relations with] his wife." That Cain's wife was of forbidden or strange flesh is borne out later, in Jude 11, in referring to the men of Sodom and Gomorrah, "Woe unto them! for they have gone the way of Cain," that is, seeking after strange flesh.

The pre-Adamites were referred to by the Hebrew word Nachash, to hiss, as a serpent-meaning Negro. The Arab word Chanas comes from this Hebrew word, as well as Khanoos, or Ape, and the Arab word for devil, Khanas. Thus the mixing of the races and the appearance of the devil in history are conjoined in the misdeeds of Cain. Cain is also reputed to have celebrated the first Black Mass, or Satanic Mass, on earth.

The name of Cain survives today in Freemasonry in two forms, which are integral to the most crucial tenets of this association. First of all, murder, the threat of murder, and the constant re-enactment of murder are basic to the most important Masonic rituals, as Stephen King pointed out in his book, "The Brotherhood," shortly before his untimely death.

Thus a direct link to the first murderer, Cain, is established by these rituals. The importance of the Cain legend to Freemasonry is also revealed by the fact that Cain slew his brother. In Freemasonry, if you are asked to act against your own brother in behalf of a fellow-Mason, you must do so, under pain of death.

There have been many instances where a man who was pursuing a lawsuit against a Mason was astounded to have his own brother, who would be a Mason, come into court and commit perjury against him to help his brother Mason. This custom also survives in other organizations (which may be related to Freemasonry). In La Cosa Nostra, leaders often request a member to murder a close relative upon whom the death sentence has been passed, as the ultimate test of his loyalty.

The name of Cain also survives in a second important element of Freemasonry. The secret password of Freemasonry is "Tubal Cain" (Heckethorn, "Secret Societies," p. 26). Tubal Cain, a descendant of Cain, was the son of Lamech, the father of Noah, who had two wives, Adah and Zillah. 'Zillah bore Tubal Cain; he was the forger of all instruments of bronze and iron.

The sister of Tubal Cain was Naamah" (Genesis 4:22). Naamah's revelries with her blood relative, I, Iam, resulted in the Curse of Satanic Canaan; she is also recorded as the person who brought Satanic human sacrifice and Satanic cannibalism into the world. Tubal Cain, grandson of Methuselah by Lamech, was of the line of Cain, hence his name. He is known as the father of witchcraft and sorcery, hence his importance to Freemasonry and their use of his name as their password.

Ham's descendant by the Negro Cush, Satanic Nimrod, son of Cush, became the world's most demonic ruler, and the first ruler of the world. He used his power to indulge in Satanic sex orgies and Satanic child sacrifices, until Shem beheaded him for his offenses against God. Shem cut his body into pieces and sent these gory relics to the priests as a warning to cease and desist their vile practices of demonic worship. Instead, the priests hid the pieces, revering them as objects of worship, concealing them in their "groves" and "Shrines" as the first "Mysteries." The secret of the relics, or Mystery, was made known to initiates only after a long period of indoctrination, when they could be trusted not to betray the worshippers of Baal. This was the true origin of the "Mysteries," from which, as Albert Pike notes in "Morals and Dogma," all Masonic rites originate.

Satanic practices throughout the world can be traced in an unbroken line directly back to Gnosticism, from gnosis, or knowing. Gnosis refers to knowing the secrets of the Mysteries, that is, the place where the relics are hidden, the pieces of Satanic Nimrod's body. The "G" which is prominently featured in Masonic symbols indicates not only its origins in Gnosticism, but also "Generation," that is, the fertility rites of the sex cult of Baal and Ashtoreth.

This "G" is also featured in the logo of the Gannett chain, a group which is rapidly swallowing up newspapers and television stations all over America, as well as publishing the newspaper "USA Today," which loses over $100 million a year. This is considered a small price to pay for controlling the minds of American people.

The fate of Satanic Nimrod also survives in the myth as Osiris and his sister Isis. Osiris, another name for the Satanic Canaanite god Baal and his consort Ashtoreth or Isis, whose rites the Satanic Canaanites brought into Egypt, were worshipped as fertility gods. The Egyptian legend is that Osiris' brother Set (or Shem) dissected him into fourteen pieces. Isis gathered up the pieces, but the most important part, the phallus, was missing; the legend says that a crab had eaten it. Isis made a substitute phallus out of wood, and thus restored her brother.

Because of its origin in the temples of Baal, which were dedicated to both male and female prostitution, Freemasonry has been the unseen force behind the drive to make the United States into a bisexual nation.

Its philosophical director, Albert Pike, makes this plain in his authoritative book, "Morals and Dogma," p. 849: "Reversing the letters of the ineffable name, and dividing it, it becomes bisexual" This is pure Kabbalism, and it refers us directly to the cult of Baal and Ashtoreth.

Pike makes the point clearer on page 741, "Masonry is a search after Light. That search leads us directly back, as you see, to the Kabbala. All truly dogmatic religions have issued from the Kabbala and return to it; everything grand in the religious dreams of the Illuminati, Jacob Boehm, Swedenborg, Saint-Martin, and others, is borrowed from the Kabbala; all the Masonic associations owe to it their secrets and symbols."

This is the most definitive revelation of the true origins and purposes of Freemasonry. Originating in the Kabbala, it accomplishes its devious purposes through the even more secret organization of the Illuminati, the inner circle which controls the six million Freemasons of the world.

From their inception, the "Mysteries" were always bisexual; rather, they sought to indulge any passion in their dedication to pleasure, which meant constantly seeking after new and perhaps more exciting sensations. Our modern psychologists explain these diversions as "the alternative lifestyle." like the LGBTP agenda - Lesbian, Gay, Bi, Trans, Pedophile agenda.

The symbol of the obscene rites is the Delta, or triangle (the large pornography collection at the Library of Congress is called the Delta collection; each card in the catalogue listing 1 book in this collection has the symbolic triangle in the upper lefthand corner). The Delta represents the triune circles of eternity, the Hebrew Yod.

The double Delta, or six pointed symbol of Judaism, represents the male triangle supreme over the female triangle below, and penetrating her. The inverted triangle in the Rite of Kadosch Freemasonry represents Lucifer as the Grand Patriarch and Grand Emperor. This triangle comprises the Indivisible Trinity to which the Kadosch takes his oath of blind obedience. The Delta is also the symbol of the Chapter in Royal ArchMasonry. This triangle represents the Indivisible Masonry.

The Delta, or Triad, now is featured as the new symbol of Hundreds of American business organizations, perhaps as a notice to the elect that this business is now part of the Masonic Empire. The present writer has many pages which researchers have gathered showing the predominance of this symbol in American business. The Triads are also the name of the ancient Chinese underworld gangs, for whom murder is a customary method of doing business.

Throughout the world, the Triad has become the symbol of international business conspiracies. When Kashoggi, the munitions dealer whose arms dealings resulted in the 1980's Iran scandals, formed an American branch of his operations, he called it Triad America. Also symbolically, it has now gone into bankruptcy, after inveigling many Americans into multi-million dollar deals in many areas.

Captain William Morgan, who was murdered for having written of the Masonic rituals, and thereby gave rise to the Anti-Masonic Party in America during the nineteenth-century, noted in his historic book, "Freemasonry Exposed," that when a Fellow Craft Mason was asked in 29

interrogatory (interrogatory has since become a prime technique of lawyers In their manipulation of a bill of attainder proceeding known us "Discovery") what was his work, he answered that he worked at building King Solomon's Temple. "What does a Master's Lodge represent? The Sanctum Sanctorum, or holy of holies, King Solomon's Temple."

Albert Mackey's "Encyclopaedia of Freemasonry" lists under Orient, "The place where a Lodge is situated is sometimes called its 'Orient,' but more properly, its 'East.' The seat of a Grand Lodge has also sometimes been called its 'Grand Orient,' but here 'Grand East' would, perhaps, be better. The term 'Grand Orient' has been used to designate certain of the Supreme Bodies on the Continent of Europe, and also in South America, as the Grand Orient of France, the Grand Orient of Brazil, the Grand Orient of Portugal, and the Grand Orient of New Grenada, etc. The title always has reference to the East as the place of honor in Masonry."

The reverence for the East throughout Grand Orient Freemasonry is revealed by their activities in Western civilization. They have consistently worked to impose Oriental despotism on the citizens of Western Republics through totalitarian government apparatus.

Oriental despotism has become especially predominant in all of our legal proceedings, the "court" where the despot rules, the symbolic bow, or standing, when the despot comes into the room, and the refusal of the despot to brook any questioning of his decision by a citizen, who can approach the judge only through an anointed priesthood, the legal profession.

Some Americans optimistically decide to come into court representing themselves, which the people of Shem provided for specifically in their Constitution of the United States, but judges usually give such "attorneys pro se" short shrift. In states such as Virginia, where Masonic power rules the courts, judges have been known to boast that no attorney pro se will ever get a favorable decision in their court. A non-Mason who enters an American court today is placing himself at the mercy of an Oriental despot, hence the tyrannical actions of judges in sentencing to indeterminate prison sentences anyone who happens to displease them, or whose property is coveted by a Mason.

This Oriental type of despotism can be traced back to Zoroaster in Persia, to Ishtar and Tammuz in Satanic Babylon, to the graeco- Thracian Mysteries at Eleusis, the Mysteries of Demeter, Persephone, and Dionysus; to Cybele and Altis in Phrygia; to Aphrodite and Adonis in Syria; to Isis and Osiris in Egypt; and to Mithra in Persia.

These Mystery cults were formally combined into much of the text of the Satanic Babylonian Talmud, a book of religious precepts which had been formulated after the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. Nebuchadnezzar took this people to Satanic Babylon as captives from 586 to 537 B.C., after which Cyrus of Persia captured Satanic Babylon and authorized the return to Jerusalem.

During the Satanic Babylonian captivity, there was a free admixture of the various Satanic Canaanite tribes; the Edomites intermarried with the Satanic Canaanite branch of the Judahites and Chers. Edom means red; ever since the Captivity, red has meant revolution and Satanic Canaanite massacre of the innocents.

The Rothschilds, when they backed the formation of the Illuminati, changed their name from Bauer to Roth (red) child (shield). This intermixture of various strains caused a great deal of confusion among the offspring as to what their customs should be.

To resolve this difficulty, the captives began to compile a great book of religious teachings. Talmud means "teaching" in Hebrew. By the second century A.D., the Talmud had been completed as oral law, the Mishnah, or older part, and the Gemara, or commentary on the law. It first appeared in print in 1520, when Daniel Bomberg published it in Venice.

Because of its origins in the demon-worshipping capital of the world, Satanic Babylon, Satanic Demonology plays an important part throughout the text of the Talmud. It refers to the Demiurge, or Chief Demon, as the Creator of the Universe, and it defames the various appearances of demons as (1) mazzikim; (2) shedim; (3) ruhot (Avot. 5-6). Asmodeus is listed as the King of the Demons (Pes. 110a-112b).

The Mishnah taught in the second century B.C. that two things should never be revealed to the public, or the uninitiated: (1) the work of creation, and (2) the work of the chariot (meaning esoteric operations, the "Divine Throne"). These precepts later became further formalized in the secret rites of Freemasonry.

In 1280 A.D., a further development of Talmudic thought, The Zohar, or Book of Splendour, appeared. This was known as the Cabala, or tradition. It was based on two things: (1) generation, or the fertility rites, as the most sacred word in the new instructions (which, of course, also became the "G" featured in Masonic symbols), and (2) the precept that Israel alone is to possess the future world (Vayschleh folio 177b).

The Zohar derived from the Sefer Yetsirah, or Book of Creation, which had appeared in the Satanic Babylon of the third century; the ten Sephiroth or numbers, based on the belief that the universe derives from the ten numbers and two letters of the Hebrew alphabet; this later was developed into the twenty-two trumps of Tarot, or the twenty-two Paths which lead to Sephotorth.

In Cabala *, evil takes on a mysterious existence of its own, which its precepts trace back to the physical appearance of life on earth, or Adam. Cabala claims that Adam throws the entire stream of life out of balance, and that the Church, or Christianity, by formalizing the physical existence of the Adamite people on earth, have become a problem which must be resolved.

This is the essence of the basic anti-life principle underlying all Cabala and its heir, Freemasonry. These precepts declare that Satanism will achieve its final triumph over the Church and Christianity, thus ending the "dualism" of this world, the struggle between good and evil. In short, the problem of good and evil will be ended when evil triumphs and good is eliminated from the earth. This program may sound somewhat simplistic, but it is the basic premise of the Cabala and Freemasonry.

Footnote: * Cabala appears in various spellings through history, principally "Cabala." Also Kabbalah, Kabala, etc.

These anti-life precepts are now to be encountered, and dealt with, in many of the developments of our civilization. The descendants of the Satanic Canaanites instinctively hate and actively oppose such progress as technology, urban life, industrialism, and the cultural achievements of humanity. Their basic goal is to return the earth to the primitivism of its pre-Adamic state, when a Neanderthal type of human roamed at will over an earth which had no "civilized" aspects to remind him of his primitivism. The end purpose is to "restore" pre-Adamic man, so that Adamite man, as a creation of God, no longer presents an obstacle to Satan and his rule over this world. Thus cabbalistic Freemasonry aims for the extermination of life as we know it, culminating in the final triumph of the Satanic Canaanite Curse on this earth. In retrospect, this amazing observation offers an irrefutable reason for the otherwise inexplicable massacres, wars, and human devastation which have been regularly visited upon a long-suffering humanity by the Satanic Canaanite conspirators.

The Encyclopaedia Judaica has an entry of some sixty-one pages on the Kabbala alone, by far the largest single entry in this encyclopaedia. This entry notes that "Christian Kabbalah," that is, the central development of secular humanism, first appeared in the theosophical systems of the Freemasons in the second half of the eighteenth century, that is, during the period of "the Enlightenment." It was this predominant element in secular humanism which led to the revolutions of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, and which had previously led to the Reformation. These political results were the logical outcome of the teachings of Zohar, which declares that En Soph (the Ultimate Deity) brought the world into being in an indirect manner, in order to avoid being contaminated by physical being, or life; this again expresses the basic anti-life direction of this philosophical system. This deity's only manifestation on earth is through the Ten Sephiroth, or Divine Emanations. The teachings of Zohar deny any presence on earth of God or His Son Jesus Christ; it places all of its emphasis on 'non-God or humanistic doctrines.

Orthodox Jews base their religious practices entirely on the Cabala. They celebrate their coming triumph, the Feast of Tabernacles, which is defined in the Zohar as the period when they triumph over all the peoples of the world. "That is why during this feast we seize the lulab and carry it as a trophy to show that we have conquered all the other people (the populace)" (Toldoth Noah 63b).

In his definitive work, "The Magical Mason," W. Wynn Westcott, the founder of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn in England, traces the origins of the Freemasons back to the Essenes in Jerusalem; Pharisaic Jews, the practitioners of the most strict Judaism; the ancient Mysteries of Egypt and Greece; the Vehm-Gerichte of Westphalia in Germany; the trade guilds of the Middle Ages; the Roman Collegia; the French Compagnons; and the Rosicrucians. Westcott points out that the cornerstone of the Capitol of Rome has the keystone mark of "the Overseers," a sacred group.

The Royal Arch has an altar of white stone in the form of a double cube; it is engraved with "the Sacred Name." He says that the Mysteries, from which all Masonic ritual is derived, were intended to end the fear of death in the initiate, by re-enacting the descent into Hades, and thus finding the great first cause of all things revealed to the initiate. Westcott claims that the famous Black Stone in the Sacred Mosque at Mecca is also part of this ritual. There is also the Sacred Stone placed beneath the Throne of England, which is said to have been the Stone of Jacob in Biblical times.

From such ancient symbols of power came the Masonic motto, "Per me reges regnant," "through me kings reign." By controlling kings, the Masons exercised their power from behind the scenes. If the kings were overthrown by revolutions (which were often organized by the Freemasons themselves), the kings might be beheaded, but the instigators behind the throne would be forewarned and escape unscathed. They would then continue to reign through the next chosen leader, usually designated by their inner councils.

Although it is dedicated to the usurpation and maintenance of absolute power through an Oriental despotism, Freemasonry has attained much of its worldwide influence through its emphasis on and sponsorship of the power of revolutions against the established order. Their slogan became the motto of the French Revolution, "Liberie, egalite, fraternie." Liberty, equality, that is, equality for Masons only, with slavery as the fate of everyone else, and fraternity, that is the brotherhood of the Masonic Order of the Satanic Canaanites.

This slogan appears throughout documents of Freemasonry, which also advertises itself as "The New Age" movement. Many of its publications, such as the magazine of the Washington Freemasons in our nation's capital, feature the name, The New Age, and the symbolic triangle on the cover of its magazine, the triangle being emblazoned in its borders with the motto, "Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity." The New Age, or New Order, refers to the era which will be inaugurated after the final Armageddon, when the Satanic Canaanites exterminate the last survivors of the people of Shem.

In the Masonic world, Jerusalem has always been heralded as the birthplace of Freemasonry. Another tradition has it that the earliest Masonic lodges built the Temple of Solomon. King Solomon completed the Temple in 1005 B.C. Solomon died at the age of sixty, after a reign of some forty years, and was succeeded by his son Rehoboam.

Mackey's "Encyclopaedia of Masonry" says under the entry, "Oriental Chair of Solomon," "The seat of the Master in a Symbolic Lodge, and so called because the Master is supposed symbolically to fill the place over the Craft once occupied by King Salomon. For the same reason, the seat of the Grand Master in the Grand Lodge receives the same appellation. In England it is called the Throne."

In Masonic symbolism, the Rainbow appears as the sacred depiction of Lucifer, the Light Bearer, and it indicates his Brightness. On Masonic diplomas is inscribed the verse, "And God said, Let there be Light, and there was Light." In fact, the use of God's name here is a typical subterfuge whose true meaning is known only to the higher degrees of Freemasonry, the occult degrees, and is an example of the internal deception by which the occult degrees rule the fellow crafts. Lucifer is the true name of the being whom they worship as a god, is their mentor, Albert Pike, made plain in his communications to Mazzini and other Masonic leaders.

The symbols of Freemasonry, to those unaware of their Cabbalistic meaning, may seem innocuous enough, particularly to the great majority of Masons, the members of the three degrees of the Blue Lodges. They are never informed that the "All-Seeing Eye" of their symbolism refers not to light, but to the genitals, the Eye of Hoor, which is the anus, and which signifies the homosexual or bisexual commitment of our present ruling class, the World Order of the Satanic Canaanites. "G" stands for both Generation, or the act of coitus, and for Gnosticism. It also glorifies the Great God Baal, and the missing part of his anatomy, the phallus, which according to the legend of Set and Satanic Nimrod, had been removed.

The worship of the phallus appears in Masonic ceremonies in the Master degrees Ma-ha-bone, signifying the hermaphroditic son of Loth. The Master's Lodge represents the Uterus, the Middle Chamber. The acacia signifies that all the Mysteries originated in India, or rather, that their initial inspiration came from that area. In the Acacia Rite, the fellow crafts are dressed in white, from the Greek signifying innocence, although it also signifies the corruption of innocence in many religious rites.

The Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Company headquarters occupies a prominent place in Washington near the halls of Congress. During his lifetime, J. Edgar Hoover, longtime head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, accepted only one business association. He was named a director of Acacia Mutual, which was almost directly across the street from his headquarters at the FBI. Because of this association, it proved impossible to remove him from the FBI during his lifetime.

The Masonic points also derived from the ancient Mysteries; the triple degrees of the system correspond to the mysteries of Serapis, Isis, and Osiris. The entered apprentice is referred to the three lights, Osiris in the East, Isis in the West, and Horus, who was master, or living lord in place of Osiris, in the South.

The Hexapla, or Seal of Solomon, is a six-pointed star. In the Cabala, six is esteemed as a male number, which has been assigned by the Kabbalists to Microprospus, the Vau of the Hebrew alphabet, and the six middle signs. The Cabala itself is the basis of Theosophy; in the Encyclopaedia Judaica, under the entry "Theosophy," it merely says, see Kabbala. The Kabbala took shape as a definite system, a secret Sophia or body of knowledge, after the fall of Jerusalem. It relied heavily on numerology and incantations. The Hebrew gematria is a code which is based upon numerology. Devious explanations and prophecies are worked out by laboriously tracing various numerological values. For instance, through gematria it is shown that Moses wrote the Farewell Song; the first six letters of the first six sentences are the same as Moses name in Hebrew-345. The Cabala claims that the sacred number offers the prospect of knowledge. This number, 142857, is divided from the Eternal Number, One, or one million, or God plus six symbols of endlessness; divided by 7, it always comes out 142857. The primary numbers, 1 through 9, make up the triangle of the ternary, the completed Image of the three worlds. 9 is also the number for Mars; the secret name of god is number 9, and the period of gestation is 9 months; all of this information is to be found in the Cabala.

The chants and incantations from the Cabala include such esoterica as the Key of Solomon, which gives the formula for summing up Lucifer: "So come forth! Enter! or I shall torture you endlessly by the force of the powerful names of the Key: Alglon, Tetragram, Vaycheons, Stimulametion, Ezphraes, Petregrammaton, Olzaran, Irion, Erython, Existron, Erzona, Onera, Orosyn, Mozan, Messiah, Soter, Emanu, Saboot."

A symbol which is to be found in every Masonic Lodge is the representation of a blazing star. Masons, apparently not knowing its true origin, claim it is the symbol of prudence. In fact, it represents the dog star, Sirius. The inundation of the Nile occurred in Egypt when the sun was under the stars of the Lion. To the Egyptians, it was known as the god Anubis; we know it by the name from the Hebrew, Sihor, which in Greek became Serios, and in Latin, Sirius. Its appearance was the sign to the ancient Egyptians to retire to higher ground, before the rising of the Nile, a tradition of prudence unknown to the present-day Masons, who nevertheless ascribe to it the correct interpretation of prudence. The character emblazoned on the Masonic apron is the triple Tau, a compound of three T's, or, in Greek, Tau. It stands for the old Egyptian Nilometer, which was used to ascertain the height of the Nile's inundation, on which the life of the inhabitants depended. It thus became the symbol of health and prosperity, having the power as an amulet to avoid evil.

A key Masonic ceremony is based on the tradition that the three great secrets of the mystery school of Moses were known to no one man; the three secrets, also called "the three words," were known by King Solomon, King Hiram of Tyre, and Hiram Abiff of Tyre, who is called "the widow's son" by Masons. Tyre, of course, was one of the key Satanic Canaanite cities. Three Masons of lower degree sought to force Hiram Abiff to tell them the word which was in his keeping; he was murdered by them because he refused. The murder ritual of Hiram Abiff is one of the key Masonic ceremonies, and it is intended to impress upon them the importance of submitting to murder rather than to give away any secret of the Masons. It also, as Stephen King points out, emphasizes the importance of the element of murder in all of Freemasonry, perhaps the single 35 most constant factor which links all of their ceremonies. The murder of Hiram Abiff is solemnly re-enacted at the reception of a Master Mason. The chamber is draped in black, with death's head painted on the walls. A body is displayed in a coffin, and the entire story is then re-enacted, culminating with the murder of Hiram Abiff by two apprentices. This impresses upon the members of the fellow craft that the blood-curdling oaths which they are required to take are no idle ceremonies, and that they must be faithful to the Masonic Satanic Canaanite rite, or their lives will be forfeit.

In the Masonic ceremonies, a new name for God (whom they always hated) was coined by the ritualists, because they dared not use the name of their real God, Lucifer. They now called on the mystical Jah-Bul-On, a name which they originated by combining the various deities of the Satanic Canaanite devil-worshippers: Jah, from the original Jahweh; Bui, the Hebrew name for the Satanic Canaanite god Baal; and On, representing the Egyptian God, Osiris.

Because of their Kabbalistic origins, the number 13 is of great significance in Masonic rites. A Council of Five, which is composed of the family leaders of the Rothschilds and their closest associates, governs the World Order of Satanic Canaanitic Freemasonry. Below it is the Council of 13, which also has great authority; after them comes the Council of 500. The council of 500 is made up of the leading politicians and business leaders of the world; it also includes the most prominent men from education and religion. The members of this Council are often present at the policy meetings of the Bilderberger Organization, with which it basically corresponds.

Key elements in the world program of Freemasonry are frequently enacted on their special date, the thirteenth. Thus, the Federal Reserve Act, a key point in the control of the world's economic systems by the Satanic Canaanites, was enacted into law on the 23rd of December, 1913. The 16th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, the income tax amendment, which was also a key element in the program, was adopted on May 31, 1913. This amendment gave the Satanic Canaanites control over every economic aspect of the captive population of the United States. From that day on, they had to report every penny of both income and assets, as had been laid down by Lenin in his program, "The Threatening Catastrophe," which he had published in 1917. This program called for the confiscation of assets as punishment for "concealing income"; it was adopted by the Internal Revenue Service. The Lenin program now is the official operating doctrine of the IRS. The 17th amendment to the Constitution of the people of Shem, the amendment changing the requirements for electing Senators to the Congress, was adopted on May 21, 1913. These three amendments effectively sabotaged the Constitution, removing its historic protections of the people against a tyrannical government. Because income is actually property, the 16th amendment stripped citizens of the United States of all property rights, as did the later provisions for confiscation of all money and property. The Senate election amendment stripped the state legislatures of their historic right to elect Senators; it had been required to maintain the balance between the less populous and the more populous states; it now costs ten million dollars to elect a Senator. This amendment left the inhabitants of the several states bare to the most vicious intrigues of the barbaric and devil-worshipping Satanic Canaanites. In effect, the people of Shem lost a racial and religious war, because of these three acts of 1913. The emphasis on the number 13 also restates the resolve of the Freemasons to destroy their historic enemy, Christ, and His Twelve Disciples.

When the Satanic Rockefellers set up their criminal control of the state legislatures, the Council of State 36

Governments, they symbolically installed it at a building numbered 1313. In 1813, the Duke of Sussex, the second son of King George III, became the Grand Master of English Freemasonry. Thirteen small stars, the Seals of Solomon, were placed on United States currency, to form a six-point Mogen David (Shield of David).

The various degrees of the Masonic ritual are of great hidden significance. The first three degrees, known as the Blue Lodge, are (1) entered apprentice; (2) fellow craft; (3) Master Mason. The initiates of the Blue Lodge are purposefully deceived throughout their membership as to the true purposes of Freemasonry. Any Mason of high degree who informs them of the behind-the-scenes occult program of the Order is subject to the death penalty. Consequently, the Blue Lodges, found in most American towns and cities, seem little different from the organizations of other fraternal orders, such as the Ruritans and the Lions. Superficially, all three groups seem to be drawn from the same strata of society, earnest, family men, often church-goers, representing the essential qualities of small town life, but the resemblance is only superficial. The Masonic Order usually draws its members from the leading merchants, and from the professions, bankers, doctors, and lawyers. They come to their meetings, they dabble in some charity work, and in general, they mark time until that day when they are asked to perform some unusual task for a fellow Mason, or for the national or world order. At that time, they finally realize that the blood oath does have significance, but by that time it is usually too late. They may be asked to support a Masonic candidate for political office, to swing a business deal to a fellow Mason, or even to commit perjury or some other illegal act for a brother Mason. Even then, they are never offered any confidences; they are merely told what they must do, and they must obey. The Lions and the Ruritans, on the other hand, have no such demands on their members.

The first seven degrees of Freemasonry are the same novice crafts as the first seven degrees of the Great Mysteries of Osiris. They are also the same seven degrees as the requirements for advancement in the Jesuit Order. Heckethorn's "Secret Societies" notes that the apprentice ceremonies are thought to be of Jesuitical origin; Weishaupt had had a Jesuit chair at the University of Ingolstadt when he organized the Illuminati. Heckethorn says, "He [the apprentice] is then deprived of all metal he has about him; his right knee, and sometimes his left side, are uncovered, and the heel of his left shoe is trodden down. These ceremonies are supposed by some writers to be of Jesuitical origin. The deprivation of metals is to typify the vow of poverty, the baring of the breast and knee is intended to prevent the admission of women, and the treading down the heel of the shoe to remind the candidate that Ignatius de Loyola, who had a bad foot, thus began his pilgrimage."

The Scottish Rite has twenty-nine higher degrees, such as the 16th degree, Prince of Jerusalem; Grand Pontiff; the 20th degree, Knight; the 26th degree, a Rite which calls for Luciferian worship, demanding in the sacred name to cast out "obscurantism," a Masonic code term for the teachings of Christ; the 30th degree, Kadosch, a Yiddish term meaning "Noble," whose initiation rite contains the significant phrase, "I, I alone, All mine, All for me, by any and every means." The important 32nd degree, Sublime Prince of the Royal secret, means that he has now advanced sufficiently to be given information of a high degree, that is, Gnosticism, the "knowing" of the secret, which goes back to the dismemberment of Satanic Nimrod, when the sect went underground. The Rite of the 32nd degree ritually denounces property, law, and religion as "assassins of the Grand Master de Molay Once Religion is dead, Law and Property will fall to our mercy, and we shall be able to regenerate society by cofounding on the corpses of the Assassins of man, Masonic Religion, Masonic Law, and Masonic Property."

This Rite reveals the basic purpose of Freemasonry, to overthrow the established institutions of society and to replace them with Masonic institutions of society controlled by the Satanic Canaanites. The Scottish Rite also has the Rite of Herod, the French Rite, the Grand Orient Rite, Mizraim Rite, which is a Rite of Ancient Egypt named after the son of Ham. Of these degrees, the Rite of Herod memorializes the most brutal king in history. Many Jews denounced Herod because of his bloodlust. He ordered all newborn babies to be killed, so as to ensure killing the newborn Christ.

It is the 33rd degree which is of the most importance in learning about the real aims of Freemasonry. Known as "the revolutionary degree," it confers the title of the Supreme Pontiff of Universal Masonry. Only those who reach the 33rd degree are allowed to wield world power, hence the title "Universal." Consequently, most heads of government, or persons of like importance, are 33rd degree Masons. Of course they cannot be loyal to any nation they head, because their loyalty has already been pledged, on penalty of death, to Universal Masonry.

Atypical 33rd degree Mason was the late President of the United States, Harry S. Truman. Lacking any known talents, he had a disastrous career as a haberdasher; he was then deemed unemployable for any known profession. His problem was solved when he became the chief organizer for the Masonic Lodges throughout the State of Missouri. This miserable creature later allowed his mother's farm to be sold to pay his debts, while he continued on the nonpaying course. After he had served the Masonic Order well for a number of years, the Order then nominated him for a judgeship, as is often done by the Order in maintaining its iron control over the courts of the United States. His subsequent political career was then assured. To draw 38 attention away from the Masonic sponsorship of his career, a great deal was made of a passing association with the boss of the Kansas City underworld, Boss Pendergast, as the man behind his meteoric rise. In fact, Pendergast was also a Mason. After attaining the 33rd degree, Truman secretly changed his name by adding the initial S., which stood for Solomon. He frequently told journalists that "The S doesn't stand for anything." As President, he was consistently loyal to the revolutionary tradition of the 33rd degree. Hailing the bloodsoaked dictator, Joseph Stalin as "Good Old Joe," he initiated the Marshall Plan to continue the secret shipment of supplies to the Soviet Union. He publicly labelled the Alger Hiss treason case "a Red Herring," and he authorized the State Department's George Kennan to draw up the "containment policy," which guaranteed that Russia would continue to occupy the Central European nations without any interference, after they had conquered them by armed aggression. In all of his revolutionary work, he was ably assisted by his closest personal confidant, David Niles, or Neyhus, a Communist homosexual who had one sister holding an important position in the Government of Israel, and another sister who had a policymaking position in Moscow. To protect him while he was on his nightly drunken cruising sprees in the back alleys of Washington, Niles had J. Edgar Hoover assign two FBI agents to follow him. They had to crouch behind garbage cans while he engaged himself in his customary pursuits, and then saw to it that he returned safely to the White House. This FBI tradition was continued for Walter Jenkins during the Lyndon Johnson occupancy of the White House.

One of the most revolting personalities in the history of the United States was the chief organizer of Freemasonry, Albert Pike. Born in Boston, he went to Harvard University and later moved to Arkansas. He served as a general in the Confederate Army during the Civil War, after which he devoted the rest of his life to promoting Freemasonry. He is credited with having brought the Scottish Rite into prominence in the United States. Significantly, the Scottish Rite dates all of its official communications with the year of the Hebrew calendar. Pike maintained worldwide ties with such noted Masonic revolutionaries as Garibaldi and Mazzini. They cooperated in establishing four Grand Central Directories for Freemasonry; the North American branch was headquartered at Washington, D.C.; the South American branch was headquartered at Montevideo; the European branch at Naples; and the Asia and Oceania branch at Calcutta. He and Mazzini were succeeded as heads of world Freemasonry by Adriano Lemmi. Pike and Lemmi had an extended disagreement over the name of the God of Masons which they were to use in their rites; Pike was determined to call him Lucifer, while Lemmi held out for Satan; they finally settled on Lucifer. Pike subsequently used the term, Sublime Pontiff of Lucifer, to describe himself.

Although he came from modest origins, Pike, during his years in Arkansas, seemed to possess unlimited funds, for which no source has ever been established. A gross, obese creature of the most perverted tastes, he frequently organized expeditions of as many as three wagonloads of friends and prostitutes. They rolled out into the countryside, laden with casks of brandy, every available delicacy, and other refreshments. They then would gorge themselves for days on end, indulging in wild orgies, and blind to the world.

After rising to control of American Freemasonry, Pike forbade the mention of the name of Jesus Christ in a prayer in a Masonic Lodge. He organized the Adonaicide Mass for the top officials of the New Palladian Rite. It was based on the initiation rite of the 25th degree, in which the serpent is portrayed as the true friend of man, and Christ, or Adonais as the real enemy of mankind. Actually, it was a somewhat conventional Black Mass, to which Pike added some original touches of his own; the highlight of the initiation of a nude prostitute, called Eve, into the rites of intercourse. A fowl or animal was then immolated as a bloody sacrifice to Lucifer, to celebrate the victory of the Synagogue of Satan over Christ; followed by the ritual defiling of the Host. The blood was passed around to the celebrants to be drunk, after which the flesh was ritually eaten. All those present then abandoned themselves to a drunken orgy.

Despite his frequent dissipations, Pike was a tireless organizer. He managed to produce the massive textbook, "Morals and Dogma," which is the Bible of American Freemasonry to this day. First published in Charleston (the Mother Lodge) in 1871, the book indicates from its very first page the tyrannical intent of Freemasonry. "The blind Force of the People is Force that must be economized, and also managed" It must be regulated by Intellect. ... The Force of the People .... cannot maintain and continue in action and existence a Free Government once created. "

This is the bald resolve that Freemasonry cannot tolerate the existence of a free government. Therefore, the American Republic and the Constitution of the United States, written by and for the people of Shem, must be eliminated. Pike's book, by and large, is simply a formulation of the program which the Satanic Canaanites had already been pursuing for three thousand years. It gave a precise set of instructions by which the American people could be brought under control and bent to the ends of Freemasonry.

Pike positively identifies the demonic origins of Freemasonry on page 22: "Masonry, successor of the Mysteries, still follows the ancient manner of teaching. Masonry is identical with the ancient Mysteries." This also explains Freemasonry's close cooperation with the leaders of secular humanism, which also stems directly from the Mystery cults.

Another meaningful statement is found on page 152: "Masonry is activism." These three words explain the furious involvement of Freemasons in every type of activist movement in the United States, whether it is feminism, humanism, racial integrations, or Communism. Pike had laid down the law "Masons must be activists, and they have obeyed his dictum. As a result, much of the drive, as well as the financing, for all types of activist agitation in the United States comes directly from the Hidden Hand of the Masonic Order. Wherever you see a group marching in this country, you will probably find that Masons are the instigators.

Pike explains Freemasonry's commitment to One World Government, on page 220. He writes, "The whole world is but one republic, of which each nation is a family and every individual a child." This explains the Socialistic paternalism of the present American Government, which seeks a Fabian, cradle to grave control over the daily life of every citizen. The well-oiled machinery of the national Masonic movement is able to implement such a humanistic program, which is devoid of religious inspiration or values. "Children" cannot be trusted to handle their own money; only a wise central government in Washington can decide to send our earnings to other nations, who deserve our help, but as individuals, we might not be generous enough to rob our children for the sake of tyrants in other lands. Consequently, the agents of the IRS take our earnings from us, and the federal government in Washington then puts it to "better" use.

Pike, the final arbiter of all of American Freemasonry, defines the occult origins of Freemasonry, as well as its determination to set up a one-world tyranny. Such an anti-Christian doctrine could only come from the smoking altars of Baal and his demon-worshipping disciples.

To stress the importance of his dogma, Pike writes that ("Every Masonic Lodge is a temple of religion, and its teachers are instructors in religion." Because of his previous statements, he is actually saying that every Masonic teacher is an instructor in the Kabbalah. This is reflected in the Master Mason's oath: "I will acknowledge and obey all due signs and summons sent to me from a master mason's lodge or given to me by a brother of that degree .... I will fly to his relief. ... " Failure to do", so meant "no lesser penalty than having my body severed in two, my bowels taken from hence I'd burned to ashes." This oath, for greater impact, is taken while kneeling blindfolded. This is the true revelation of a "fraternal lodge" which is supposedly dedicated to charity and good works. Has anyone ever been solicited for charity work with the admonition that if they refuse, they will be severed in two and their bowels taken out and burned?

Albert Pike, who was born in 1809, died in 1891 in Washington, D.C. His funeral was held in the Masonic Temple at midnight, with the Rite of the Kadosch funeral. The room was draped entirely in black, lit only by a few candles burning eerily, a true Witches Ceremony for a man who had devoted his life to the cause of Lucifer.

From 1859 to 1871, Pike had worked on his master plan for the World Order of Freemasonry. He formulated the program which included three world wars; the first to overthrow the Czar and set up a Communist state; the second world war which would build up the Communist empire; and the third world war which would destroy Christian civilization for all time throughout the world. On August 15, 1871, he wrote a letter to Mazzini, which is now on exhibit at the British Museum, of his program for the Luciferian world conquest, planned to unleash "the Nihilists and the Atheists ... everywhere the citizens will receive the one pure Light through the universal manifestation of the pure doctrine of Lucifer ... which will follow the destruction of Christianity and atheism, both conquered and exterminated at the same time." It was Pike who formulated the secret technique whereby initiates of the Blue Lodge would only pass through "the outward doors of their philosophy"; the initiates must be deceived by false interpretations; true interpretations were reserved for those of high degree, the Princes of Masonry, who were forbidden to reveal the true interpretations to the lower initiates.

Because of the numerous Papal Bulls which had been issued against Freemasonry, Pike and Nemmi resolved that the papacy must be destroyed. The Bulletin of the Grand Orient of France, September 18, 1885, called for the destruction of the Catholic Church.

Monsignor Dillon was perhaps the first person to perceive that the real power behind the Communist movement was that of Freemasonry. He wrote in 1884 that the New Age actually is built on the desire for the coming of a New Messiah, a false one; that the Temple of Solomon was destroyed in fulfillment of the prophecy of Christ, and the Grand Orient and the Scottish Rite Lodges were the source of modern revolutionary activity. Pope Leo XIII denounced Masonry as Naturalism: "The ultimate aim of Freemasonry is to uproot completely the whole religious and political order of the world which has been brought into existence by Christianity, 41 and to replace it with another in harmony with their way of thinking. This will mean that the foundation and laws of the new structure will be drawn from pure Naturalism."

Abbe Lerudan had written in 1747 in Amsterdam: "The real secret of Freemasonry is disbelief in the Divinity of Christ and replaced with Naturalism or the doctrine of Rationalism which was preached by Socinus in Poland." Oliver Cromwell, the regicide of England, was a Socinian by belief; the made it possible for Freemasonry to formally organize in England. Napoleon, whose brother Joseph Bonaparte was Grand Master, was believed by the Masons to be too powerful; Bernudotte, a Mason, persuaded him to launch his disastrous campaign against Russia, which led to the destruction of his army.

In Italy, Lord Sackville of England had founded the Grand Orient of Italy, which was directed by the highly secret Carbonari through the Alta Vendita, its operating arm. The instructions to the members contained this admonition, "Let each act of your life tend to discover the Philosopher's Stone. The alchemists of the Middle Ages lost their time and the Id of their dupes in the quest of this dream. That of the secret societies will be accomplished for the most simple of reasons, because it is based on the passions of man. Let us not be discouraged then by a check, a reserve,, or a defeat. Let us prepare our arms in the silence of the lodges, dress our batteries .... flatter all passions the most evil and the most generous, and all lead us to think our plans will succeed one day above even our most improvident calculations."

Another instruction of the Alta Vendita read: "We do not cease to recommend to you, to affiliate persons of every class and every manner of association, no matter what kind, only provided that mystery and secrecy shall be the dominant characteristic. Under a pretext most futile, but never political or religious, created by yourselves, or better yet, cause to be created by others, associations having in common music, the fine arts for object. Then infiltrate the poison into those chosen arts; infiltrate it in little doses. A prince who has not a kingdom to expect, is a good fortune for us. There are many of them in that plight. These poor princes will serve our ends, while thinking to labour only for their own. They form a magnificent signboard, and there are always fools enough to be found who are ready to compromise themselves in the service of a conspiracy, of which some prince or other seems to be the ringleader. There is little morality even among the most moral of the world, and one goes fast in the way of that progress. A good hatred, thoroughly cold, thoroughly calculated, is of more worth than all these artificial fires and all these declarations on the platform. Presently, we shall have a printing establishment at Malta placed at our disposal. We shall then be able to act with impunity, with a sure stroke and under the British flag, to scatter from one end of Italy to the other, books, pamphlets, etc. which the Alta Vendita shall judge proper to put into circulation."

Nesta Webster, in "World Revolution," page 14, discloses further threats' to potential betrayers: "If you are only a traitor and perjurer, learn that all our brothers are called upon to arm themselves against you. Do not hope to escape or find a place of safety. Wherever you are, shame, remorse, and the rage of your brothers will pursue you and torment you to the innermost recesses of your entrails." This was no idle threat; the Masons were known to poison those whom they suspected of having betrayed them, so that they died slow and agonizing deaths, with terrible pains' 'in the innermost recesses of their entrails."

The manner of execution is often symbolic, intended to convey a warning to other Masons or to outsiders who might know more than is good for them. Such was the execution of Robert Calvi, a principal in the Banco Ambrosiano scandal. Calvi was found hanging from Blackfriars Bridge in London, the place having been chosen to signify that he had fallen from grace. A warrant was recently issued by a judge in Milan for another principal in this case, Archbishop Paul C. Marcinkus, a native of Chicago, who had been in charge of the Vatican's finances. The bank failure cost the Vatican $250 million, although its liability at one time was estimated to be some $3 billion. Archbishop Marcinkus was in charge of the Institute per le Opere di Religione, the Vatican's Institute for Religious Works, which controlled its finances. The scandal was not really about banking, but about Freemasonry.

Lord Sackville had established the first Masonic Lodge in Italy in 1733; by 1861, Italy was beginning to organize as a world power. There were then three Masonic groups in Italy, at Turin, Naples, and Palermo. Garibaldi succeeded in uniting them in 1864 and thus became the most powerful political leader in Italy; so great was his reputation that President Lincoln asked him to become Commander-in-Chief of the United States Army during the Civil War. When Mussolini came to power after the First World War, he declared Freemasonry "a danger to the peace and quietude of the State." The Lodges were proscribed by the Anti-Masonic Law of 1925, which unleashed a furious worldwide propaganda campaign against Mussolini as a "dictator." After World War II, some five hundred Lodges promptly resurfaced in Italy. The Lodges were lavishly financed with assets thoughtfully provided by the taxpayers of the United States. Money was coming in such amounts that a super-secret group was required to handle it. One Lido Gelli had joined the Grand Oriente d'Italia in 1963; he now organized a new lodge, which he called Propaganda Due, or P-2. It was named after Mazzini's Lodge, Propaganda Uno, which he had founded to lead the Revolution of 1848. Gelli assumed the Masonic title of "supremo regulatore dell'universo," Supreme Regulator of the Universe. Within a short time, almost every prominent official, banker, and editor of Italy was a member of P-2.

P-2 became deeply involved in many underhanded banking transactions, including control of Banco Ambrosiano. Another bank was set up, Banco Privata, which seemed to be a vehicle for funds which had been hidden since World War II, OSS millions which had been stashed in secret hiding places. The principals of Banco Privata would indicate this; they included John McCaffery, the Italian representative of Hambros Bank (Charles Hambro has been head of SOE, British Intelligence in London); he purchased 24.5070 of Banco Privata for Hambros; Michael Sindona bought 51%. Sindona later sold Banco Privata to the 10R through Archbishop Marcinkus; the control was shifted to a Sindona firm in Lichtenstein, Fasco A. G. Another holding company, La Centrale Finanziaria, was set up by Sindona, which had Robert Calvi, Evelyn de Rothschild, and Jocelyn Hambro on its board. Sindona was soon moving $49 billion in Eurodollars through this and other bank holding companies which he operated. He netted some $10 million in profits. Banco Ambrosiano was at the vortex of all this activity; it went bankrupt. Gelli withdrew $50 million and fled to Switzerland, where he was arrested. Calvi was found hanging from the Blackfriars Bridge in London. Sindona, who also was involved in the collapse of the Franklin National Bank in New York, was arrested and sentenced to prison. He died in an American prison. Before his death, he explained to an interviewer the complexities of the great grain swindle, when the Soviet Union bought wheat from the United States in July, 1972. The Soviet Union was allowed to pay for its purchases in the following manner: the central bank of Hungary, acting for the Soviet Union, placed an order to sell the dollar short for $20 billion; Secretary of the Treasury John Connally then devalued the dollar by 10%; the Soviet Union made $4 billion on its short selling operation, and paid for the grain; they had $2 43 billion profit from the short selling operation and $2 billion from the 10% devaluation of the dollar. Sindona observed, "In its fathomless naivete, the United States has provided the Soviets with $4 billion, money that has since doubtless been invested in the destruction of its benefactors; I began to see then that America was the consort of her own ruin. I tell you, in all of history, no power has so blindly armed and succored its enemies as she."

In fact, "America" is not encompassing its own destruction; it is being destroyed by the Masonic Satanic Canaanites who have infiltrated its highest offices, and who now employ their power to destroy the people of Shem and the Republic which they established.

The Calvi murder brought some interesting names to the surface, including one Francesco Pazienza, a Washington figure who was close to former Secretary of State, General Haig; Flavio Carboni, a consultant to Banco Ambrosiano who was also close to Armando Corona, head of the Grand Orient of Italy; Ernesto Diotallevi and Danil Abbrudati, the heads of the Roman underworld. Abbrudati was killed by bodyguards of Roberto Rosone, deputy chairman of Banco Ambrosiano, when he tried to assassinate Rosone. Carboni was in London with Calvi when Calvi was disposed of. Carboni was registered at the Sheraton Hotel in London while Calvi was nearby at Chelsea. Sindona later said that South American Freemasons had carried out the murder of Calvi. Carboni had previously received from Calvi $100,000 which was paid to the Swiss bank account of his mistress, Laura Concas; Calvi had also paid $530,000 to Ernesto Diotallevi. A London judge reversed the ruling that Calvi had committed suicide and declared it to be death at the hands of persons unknown. The investigation was halted.

The Masonic Order of Satanic Canaanites operates in the United States in open defiance of the statutes against criminal syndicalism. 46 CJS 1 states: "Syndicalism is the doctrine which advocates abolishment of the existing political and social system by means of a general strike, peaceful demonstration, or revolutionary violence .... it is within the powers of the legislature to punish the advocacy of propaganda which has for its purpose the destruction of government, or the rights of property which that government was founded to preserve, yea before there is a present and imminent danger of the success of the plan advocated. The initial and every other act knowingly committed for the accomplishment of that purpose may be forbidden and declared to be a crime. They may also prohibit and penalize the association with or membership in organizations advocating such doctrines or inviting others to join such organizations .... advocacy within one state, or advocacy of acts of violence against another state, or against the United States, may constitute criminal syndicalism."

Thus there are adequate statutes on the books to protect the people of Shem from their planned extermination by the Masonic Satanic Canaanites. Freemasonry also violates statutes prohibiting restraint of trade, combinations entered into to injure other persons, and many other illegal activities. Continuous damage is done to the entire economy by the existence of a small, supersecret group which controls all advancement in business and the professions, which controls the issuance of bank loans, entering into a publishing business such as books, magazines, or newspapers, operating a radio and television station, chartering a bank, and many other avenues of trade. Parents always want the best possible future for their children, making great sacrifices to put them through school and to send them to college. They never realize that without the "Open Sesame" of the Masonic Order, their children are condemned to be hewers of wood and drawers of water, that they can never hope to earn any large sums or to make advancements in their field. Everything is already pre-empted by the Satanic Canaanites for their own kind. Only the children of the conspiratorial elite will be admitted to the best schools, be offered the best jobs, and live the good life. For the rest of America, the party is over.

Chapter 3 Secular Humanism

The Masonic Order of Satanic Canaanites has flourished because it has chosen its propaganda vehicles with great care. Perhaps the most efficient of these, one which has converted a large and vocal segment of the Christian church to its work, is secular humanism. The basic premise of secular humanism is that human interests should take precedence over all things. Because of its insistence that "government interests" are the primary instrument for implementing the good of human interests, secular humanism has become the primary advocate of statism, or big government, which means, of course, totalitarian government. This implementation by government bureaucrats always pits "human interests" against "spiritual interests." The spiritual interests are soon shunted aside. Secular humanism, more properly, is the humanism of temporal affairs, the affairs of this world. For those who believe there is no afterlife, it is of supreme importance to maintain total control throughout this life, believing that there is no other. Those who believe in the afterlife, on the other hand, are tempted to be too tolerant of outrages on the earth, supposing that things will be better in the next world.

Many people confuse in their own minds the term "humanitarianism" with that of humanism. Humanism is never humanitarian; its most widely perceived example in the twentieth century is the death camps of Soviet Russia, where some sixty-six million souls have perished. Humanitarianism results from compassion" and the desire to alleviate someone else's suffering. Humanism, on the other hand, stemming it does directly from the demon worship and the child murders of ancient Satanic Babylon, has as its ultimate goal the inflicting of suffering on its enemies, or anyone whom it perceives as an enemy. Humanistic social agencies in the United States continually degrade and humiliate the persons whom they claim to be "helping." The Internal Revenue Service is the outstanding humanistic agency in the United States; its goal is to redistribute the wealth of the citizens to "more deserving" recipients; quite often, these recipients are resident in foreign lands, and they would like nothing better than to see the United States destroyed.

Humanism always has a specific political direction. Its aim is to usurp and replace man's political institutions, and to set up in their place a permanent type of socialism, in which "the good of humanity" will be administered by the bureaucracy of a totalitarian state. The "welfare state" which has been established in so many Western nations is a giant step on the path leading to this goal.

Despite the many references to secular humanism by both its advocates and its opponents, one seldom hears any concrete discussion about what secular humanism is, or about its sources. This is particularly surprising, because both its origins and its history are easily available from standard reference sources. Also, the more vocal advocates of secular humanism are often found in academia, where scholarship is a way of life, and where this subject offers many tempting avenues of research.

In the present work, this writer had not expected to take up the subject of humanism. Indeed, when beginning the researching of the Satanic Demonology of history, it seemed unlikely that humanism would appear in any role. Like most other scholars, the present writer had failed to consider one essential aspect of humanism. For the revelation of this particular aspect, we are indebted to a Russian emigre, Vladimir Voinovich. He quotes A. Surkov, a speaker at the First Congress of Soviet Writers, "Poets somehow or other overlook a fourth aspect of humanism, one expressed in the severe and beautiful concept of hatred." Indeed, most writers would fail to perceive that hatred is a vital aspect of humanism. Perhaps it is more obvious in Soviet Russia than in other countries. Voinovich goes on to characterize hatred as perhaps the most important single component of humanism. But how is this possible? How could humanism, the placing of humanity's interests above those of spiritual concern, the improvement of mankind by denying any spiritual role in man's development, and concentrating strictly on "his own" humanistic interests, contain the fundamental ingredient of hatred? Only someone experienced in the horrors of the modern Soviet State could be qualified to identify hatred as the prime ingredient of humanism. The Soviet Government, administrator of the world's most humanist state, has murdered some sixty-six million of its own citizens since the Bolshevik Revolution, according to its leading writer, Aleksander Solzhenitsyn. All this has been done in the name of "socialist realism," or humanism.

The essential ingredient of humanism, hatred, can be traced directly back to its source, the demon worshippers of Baal in ancient history, the Satanic Canaanites who indulged their appetite for Satanic human sacrifice in the name of "religion," Satanic cannibalism in the rite of honoring their gods, and child murder in the name of Moloch. These are the same Satanic Canaanites who operate the great nations of the world today, and who eagerly look forward to more of the massacres which they have perpetrated in the twentieth century, and which has made our time the scene of the greatest mass murders in the history of mankind.

The demonic sources of humanism are reflected not only in their denial of God and the Kabbalistic claim that God took no part in the actual creation of the world, but also in its philosophical inspiration, which stems solely from Satan and his evil activities. As 1. M. Haldeman writes, "All of the spirit world is moved with the wisdom of the fallen angel. The spirits of the dark zone are coming forth in a spiritistic period .... Spiritism is but the agency in the hands of that great fallen angel who still retains the title as the prince and god of this world and of long date is determined to fulfill and function it." Thus we see that a great many people, spiritists, spiritualists, and their like, believe that Satan is in control of this world. From their actions, the humanists also seem to believe this. Certainly they would not have taken hatred of life as a principal ingredient of their philosophy if they had not adopted the practice of Satanism.

As we examine the long history of humanism, and trace its manifestations from the ancient world to the present time, we find singular coefficients which appear in all of its various historical periods. The first, of course, was the Satanic Canaanite world of Baal and Ashtoreth, with its focus on demonic methods of worship. In its subsequent manifestations, probably due to increasing public resistance, it took on a protective coloration of "intellectual" costume. Baal became Dr. Faustus. The smoking altars of the Satanic Canaanites were obscured by a growing emphasis on philosophical discourse. The first of these "schools of humanism" was that of 47

Pythagorus (582-507 B.C.). The Pythagorean school, which was set up at Crotona, functioned as a "mystery school," that is, a school in which the "mystery" aspects of philosophy were emphasized to a limited group of carefully chosen "initiates." The Pythagorean equation was based on the dualism of first principles—the limited, or source of definitiveness, and the unlimited, or source of divisiveness. In effect, this was the first school of dialectic, a form of teaching which was to reach its apogee in the nineteenth century work of Hegel, and his most famous disciple, Karl Marx.

The Pythagorean School also featured many precepts which in later centuries would appear in the Book of Zohar, the Kabbalah. One of these precepts was numerology, an attempt to concentrate upon the universe as a mathematical equation, and thus to work out, or to discover, a magical formula which would give control over it. The Pythagoreans featured tetraktys, the sacred number ten, which was arrived at by adding the first four numbers.

The Pythagorean School at Crotona has an interesting correlation in our own time. During the 1930s, the American headquarters of the Theosophical Society was at Krotona, California. Whether this town was deliberately named after the Pythagorean town is not known.

The Pythagorean Theorem or metaphysics of numbers greatly influenced Plato. Although he is known to us primarily as a philosopher, he exercised considerable political influence throughout his adult life. He was the acknowledged leader of a Mediterranean political faction which was opposed to the expansion of the Persian Empire. Plato led in the development of an elite which could bring the Greeks back to political dominance in the Mediterranean. The influence of the Pythagoreans caused him to develop a program much like that of the Freemasons today, a secret elite which could exercise its influence from behind the scenes, but always dedicated to its own hidden program, whose principles were known only to an elite.

Plato supported Dionysus I, ruler of Syracuse, as leader of the Greek coalition forces. Dionysus became Plato's model for his future philosopher-king. In return, Dionysus' brother-in-law, Dion, gave money to Plato to establish his school of philosophy, advancing funds to build a group of buildings which are now known to history as the Grove of Academe. It was in these buildings, on the outskirts of Athens, that Plato wrote "The Republic" as a guide for humanists of the future, so that they could achieve total control over their society. Plato then advised Dionysus II in his sacred war against Delphi. During this war, the Temple of Apollo was captured, including the vast amounts of gold which had been stored there. Plato later wrote the dialogue "Timaeus" as an elegy for his mentor, Dion.

Both Plato and Pythagorus believed in the doctrine of transmigration of souls, a favored theory in mysticism. Plato remains the single most important figure in the development of humanism, because, almost single-handedly, he transformed it from a creed based on the demon-worship of Baal to a more respectable "school of philosophy," a process which had been initiated by Pythagorus. Nevertheless, humanism remained a creed which was devoted to the conspiratorial enslavement of mankind by a secret elite, which considered itself specially "chosen," and Gnostic, that is, knowing, as contrasted to the not-knowing. While become more and more engaged in the secular aspects of society, humanism has remained true to its basic precepts, which are comprised of a mixture of the doctrines of the principal "mystery" cults; pantheism, 48 worship of nature, Gnosticism (which is always a manifestation of Satanism, irrefutably based in Gnosticism, or knowing the secrets), and hermeticism. It was the threat of these doctrines which caused Christ to issue his famous warning, "Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruit. Do men gather grapes from thorns, or figs of thistles?" (Matthew 7: 15-16). Humanism is the wolf in sheep's clothing. It comes advertising its compassion for humanity, its concern for the homeless and poor, but as Christ says, know them by their fruits. Do not ask what they intend to do. Find out what they are doing. In this way, you will not try to gather grapes from thorns, or figs of thistles.

Hermetic philosophy is traced back to Hermes Trismegistus, the Greek name for the Egyptian god Thoth, the god of wisdom and letters. The name itself means

"thricearmed," the precept being that he who has more information than others has greater protection. Francis Yates points out in "Giordano Bruno and the Hermetic Tradition," "The theory of universal animation is the basis of magic. The Hermetic sequence par excellence is alchemy -the famous Emerald Tablet, the bible of the alchemists, is attributed to Hermes."

Despite the efforts of Christian leaders to stamp out heresy, the Middle Ages were rife with many forms of superstition and black magic. While the alchemists sought to transform base metals into gold, a new dialectic of mysticism, the Kabbalah, became a potent force throughout Europe. "Cabala" simply means traditions. It was formulated as the Book of Zohar, written by the Jewish mystic Moses ben Shemtob de Leon in 1280 A.D. as a midrash on the basic law. Legend had it that when God gave the Law to Moses, he also gave a second revelation as to the secret meaning of the Law. It was forbidden to write down this secret meaning for centuries; it was passed along orally to a select group of initiates. "Secret meanings" are basic to the "mystery" cults. Theosophy is based on secret meanings; its doctrines were taken directly from the Kabbalah, yet the most widely circulated book on American cults, "The Kingdom of the Cults" by Walter Martin, Bethany Press, 1965, in the chapter on Theosophy, does not once mention the Kabbalah.

The Book of Zohar is described as a theosophical system based on the ten Sephiroth, or divine emanations, and twenty -two letters of the Hebrew alphabet comprising the names of God. In 1492, the expulsion of the Jews from Spain sent teachers of the Kabbalah throughout Europe. Their doctrines produced the most dominant school of philosophy of the Renaissance, the Neoplatonic School. Neoplatonism, in turn, became the fount of other philosophical developments, which led directly to the Reformation, the Enlightenment, and the Age of Revolution.

Zohar stresses the talmudic legend that demons on earth originated in sexual congress between humans and demonic powers, creating such well known demons as Lilith. For this reason, demonic rites always emphasize sexual acts. The Neoplatonists were widely criticized because many of its teachers and students were well known for their involvement in homosexuality. Neoplatonism combined hermetic writings with Gnosticism, organized against the background of the Kabbalah. It emphasized internal illumination (a precept which led directly to the development of the Illuminati cult in Germany), ecstasy, and the correlation of mysticism and nationalism. Neoplatonism's attraction to its adherents was the offer of "liberation of the self through mystical experience. This system of philosophy soon made the Renaissance the dominant cultural force in Europe. Influenced by the Byzantine Plethon, it found its apogee in the career of Pico della Mirandola. In Neoplatonic philosophy, the soul has definite affinities within the sphere. The soul substance is laid around the concentric sphere of the four elements above the fiery heaven.

As in the case of Plato, this school of philosophy was seen to have powers of attraction to the ruling order, and it was soon placed in service. The most powerful banker of the Renaissance, Cosimo de Medici, leader of the "Satanic Black Nobility" in Italy, the Guelphs, gave the money to found the Accademia Platonic a in Florence during the fifteenth century. With this financial and political support, Neoplatonism won rapid acceptance. In 1486, Pico della Mirandola presented 900 theses on this new philosophy at the Accademia; 72 of these theses were obvious Kabbalist concepts. A noted Hebrew scholar, della Mirandola based much of the philosophy of Neoplatonism on his studies in this field. By his emphasis on a universe, which is centered on man, he is credited with having anticipated the twentieth century philosophy of existentialism. Della Mirandola was succeeded at the Accademia by Johann Reuchlin, who became famous for his development of "Christian cabbalism," that is, a Christian version of the Kabbalah. He also became a principal figure in the spread of the Neoplatonic doctrine. Later known more simply as "Renaissance humanism," Neoplatonism, or Christian Kabbalah, often excluded belief in God from its philosophy. Its principal thesis was the cabbalistic theory that matter (or life) is essentially imperfect, and thus causes disorder in an otherwise perfect world. Plato's Republic also sought to "correct" the imperfections of society by setting up a "perfect" nation, whose perfection would have to be protected and sustained by a dictatorship; this became the foundation of all future schemes for "utopia," the most well known of these being Communism. Marx proclaimed that when this state of perfection had been reached, the state would wither away and would no longer be required to exercise dictatorial powers. However, no Communist state has yet reached this state of perfection. This was the goal of perfection which originated in a revulsion against the life process; because of this revulsion, "humanists" had no qualms about murdering sixty-six million humans in Soviet Russia. This was the result of Neoplatonism's "perfect marriage" between the Kabbalah and the Oriental precepts of Gnosticism, a union based on the denial of God's role in the Universe.

The combination of high finance, in the person of the Medici, and Neoplatonism, which offered the possibility of unlimited behavior control, created a situation which was made to order for the Satanic Canaanites in their continuing battle against the people of Shem. Plotinus and his pupil, Porphyry, had developed the basic aspect of Neoplatonism, that the First Principle and source of reality, the One, or Good, transcends being and thought, and is naturally unknowable. Gnosticism always begins with the precept that certain things are "unknowable," but that their hidden meanings can be revealed to a select group who have gone through the proper rites of initiation. Thus the doctrine of Neoplatonism became the ideal vehicle for the new worldwide secular priesthood, the heirs of the rites of Baal, but clothed now in the cultural garments of the Renaissance, and later, the Enlightenment. Its final phase was the Illuminati, the secret sect which directs Freemasonry.

The Oxford English Dictionary defines humanism as concern with merely human interests, as distinct from divine. In the Notes, we find, "1716; M. Devion Athen. Brit. 170, 'Their Jesuit boasting Monopoly and bragging tyranny over Humanistical Schools.' "

Because humanism was based on the relativism of Protagorus, it developed successively into the Renaissance, the Reformation, the Enlightenment, Marxism, and Freudianism ... Freudianism then developing its own offshoots of feminism, bisexuality, and the drug culture. Humanism became the guiding force of the development of Socialism and Fabianism in England and the United States. Its principal propagandists were careful to establish that humanism was based on atheism, amorality, and a Socialist One World State. Corliss Lamont, the son of a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan Co. became the principal spokesman for humanism in the United States. He says, " A truly Humanist civilization must be a world civilization." He drafted a Humanist Wedding Ceremony which is now widely used to replace the traditional Christian rite.

In 1953, an official Humanist Manifesto appeared. It states (1) the universe is self-existing and not created; (2) man is part of nature (the noble savage, as defined by Rousseau, the precursor of the French Revolution); (3) modern science provides the only acceptable definition of the universe or of human values; (4) exclude any supernatural explanation of the universe or of human values; (5) the end of life is the complete realization of human personality through liberalism and liberal education. The emphasis on "personality development" became effective only after traditional values had been destroyed. People no longer knew who they were or what the purpose of their life might be. They were then ripe for the school of "personality," that is, humanist propagandists who could recruit them for "alternative life styles," or homosexuality, and for the program of the Communist Revolution. Humanism also provides the absolute justification for the oppressive intervention of liberal officials in every aspect of citizens' lives. Our personal freedom and rights come directly from God; no government can either bestow them or take them away; it can only administer them. The doctrine of humanism, by denying God's role in mankind's affairs, opens the door for a cabalistic state to take away all human rights, and thus set up a Soviet Gulag, or world concentration camp. This would ensure the final victory of the Satanic Canaanites over the people of Shem, enshrining the hatred which is the core of humanistic philosophy in their absolute power over their historic opponents.

The principal agencies of humanism in the United States are centralized in a small group of billion dollar foundations which were set up to subvert the American Republic. In "The World Order," I traced the history of these foundations back to the Peabody Fund, the chief carpetbagger power in the conquered Southern states after 1865. Peabody, an American who became secretly affiliated with the Rothschild banking house in London, founded his own banking house, Peabody and Co., which later became J. P. Morgan & Co. His carpetbagger Peabody Fund, working closely with the federal military forces, which maintained their occupation of the Southern states until 1877, later became the General Education Board. Still later, it was absorbed by the Satanic Rockefeller Foundation. Since World War II, at least four Secretaries of State have been presidents of the Satanic Rockefeller Foundation, including John Foster Dulles, Dean Rusk, Cyrus Vance, and Henry Kissinger (the latter was a director).

The humanist foundations use their tax-exempt billions to infiltrate and control American education, religion, and government. The humanist officials of the foundations, after undergoing extended brainwashing at subsidiaries of the Tavistock Institute (itself a branch of the British Army Dept. of Psychological Warfare) are thoroughly indoctrinated in the Satanic Canaanite program of world control. Thus Dean Rusk, who was of an old Georgia family, when he was informed by his World Order controllers that he must marry off his daughter to a black man, enthusiastically called a press conference to announce the happy event.

Surprisingly enough, the major American foundations were the creation of one man, a member of the German Illuminati named Daniel Coit Gilman. In the "Brotherhood of Death" file is a card from the German group to Gilman. Gilman had been vice president of the Peabody Fund and another carpetbagger fund called the Slater Fund, which controlled Southern politics after the Civil War. Gilman met with Frederick T. Gates, the director of John D. Satanic Rockefeller's "charitable enterprises," and set up a new foundation for them in 1898, called the Southern Educational Board, which merged the Peabody and Slater Funds. This foundation was further centralized when Gilman advised Satanic Rockefeller to call it the General Education Board, a noteworthy move signifying that its purpose was not merely to control education in the South, but in the entire United States. It now operates under the name of The Satanic Rockefeller Foundation. In addition to being an incorporator of General Education Board, Gilman was also the incorporator of the Carnegie Institute, of which he became the first president, and the Russell Sage Foundation. In 1856, Gilman had set up the Russell Trust at Yale University with Andrew White and Timothy Dwight. This group became known as "Skull and Bones" because of its symbols featuring those parts. It is also known as the "Brotherhood of Death" because its members include many of the leading front men in the United States, the planners of war, peace, revolution, and financial calamities. They include the late W Averell Hardman and many members of his banking firm, Brown Brothers Harriman, such as Prescott Bush and his son, George Bush, the vice president of the United States; the tireless propagandist William Buckley, and many others.

The three founders of the Russell Trust exercised a profound influence over our educational establishment; Dwight became president of Yale; White became the first president of Cornell; and Gilman became president of the University of California, and later Johns Hopkins University, where Woodrow Wilson came under his influence.

The Russell Sage Foundation, also founded by Gilman, has played an important behind-the-scenes role in the United States for many years. Frederick A. Delano, one of the incorporators, and heir to his father's opium fortune, was a member of the original Federal Reserve Board of Governors in 1914; he was later named President of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond by his nephew, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Another director of Russell Sage Foundation, Beardsley Ruml, served as president of the influential Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which is known as our money market bank. He also inflicted the withholding income tax on the American people during World War II as an "emergency" measure. The emergency seems to be still with us. We could go on for many pages, detailing the tremendous influence of the humanist foundations on every aspect of American life. They are solely responsible for implementing the increasing government control over every citizen, because each plan for more control and higher taxes is drafted by the foundations, whose staffs then present it to our willing Congressmen for almost automatic enactment into law. Because we do not understand the demonic influence and origin of these humanist revolutionaries in the smoking altars of Satanic human sacrifice in Satanic Babylon, we are not able to protect ourselves against their depredations. Yet the evidence exists, and it is available if we would but make use of it.

In 1876, an article about Skull and Bones appeared at Yale, which boasted of a clandestine entry into the sacrosanct premises of The Order. On one wall was an engraving depicting an open vault, four skulls, and other paraphernalia. Below it was a card with the following: "From the 52

German Chapter. Presented by Patriarch D. C. Gilman of D. 50." Patriarch is a basic title for officials of both the Illuminati and Freemasonry. However, one would err in concluding from this discovery that Skull and Bones is merely another chapter of the Freemasons. It is one of the secret higher degrees through which the Illuminati exercises its world power, but it has no direct connection with any Freemason group.
